Power Sale B.C.'s Price To Sign Pact

OTTAWA (CP)—Premier Bennett wants to export all the power received from the United States under the Columbia River Treaty signed with the U.S., he is understood to have told Finance Minister Fleming.

Will Bennett Show Hand Tonight?

Premier Bennett will announce tonight that B.C. has decided to sign the Columbia River agreement, Reeve George Chatterton predicted yesterday.

"This is an educated guess, based on Mr. Bennett's past performance," he said. "He usually saves something like this in an attempt to grab the headlines."

Reeve Chatterton is Conservative candidate in Monday's Esquimalt-Nanaimo by-election. Mr. Bennett will address a final Kootenai Credit election rally in Mount View High School tonight.

SUBWAY CAVE-IN BURIES WORKERS

Toll in Angolan Natives Runs as High as 35,000

LONDON (Reuters)—British political weeklies yesterday estimated the number of Negroes killed in Portuguese operations against rebels in Angola at between 20,000 and 35,000.

The left-wing New Statesman declared that "some 35,000 virtually defenceless Africans have already been butchered by machine-guns and napalm."

A writer in the independent right-wing Spectator quoted the figure of 20,000 as the "most apparently trustworthy and by no means the largest of the figures that have slipped through the terror-struck censorship."

The independent Economist said the killing of Negroes has been "indiscriminate" and put the figure at "thousands or tens of thousands."

All three weekly reviews published editorials or articles strongly critical of Portugal and Premier Antonio Salazar's regime.

Firebrand Winch Lashes Tories

By PETER BRUTON

CCF firebrand Harold Winch last night castigated Conservative policies on nuclear weapons as "the utmost, sheerest, most damnable hypocrisy" he had known in his 28-year-old political career.

"They're lying in their teeth," he stormed as more than 300 people crammed the Douglas CCF Hall for the windup meeting of the New Party campaign in the Esquimalt-Nanaimo byelection.

ACCEPT THEM

Mr. Winch, CCF defence critic in the House of Commons, failed the federal government for preaching disarmament and urging a ban on nuclear weapons in the UN while preparing to accept them in Canada.

"It's sheer hypocrisy and you're asked to vote for it," he said.

"They're attacking the decent men and women and children who are talking, pleading and praying for a ban of the bomb."

He referred to statements by Conservatives that those who opposed the Canadian armed forces getting nuclear weapons were "emotional."

"You're darn right I'm emotional," he told the cheering audience. "I plead guilty to being emotional on a matter that means life and death to people."

"And I'm going to keep right

TORONTO (CP)—Two men were killed Friday night in a construction cave-in of Toronto's new east-west subway near midtown Bloor Street. Rescue workers found their bodies early today after more than five hours of crawling through tons of rubble.

Three others were injured, of whom two remained in hospital.

Dead are Edgar Ostkamp, 34, an engineer, and John Blaney, 28, a carpentry foreman.

Their bodies were found after dozens of rescue workers were called in with acetylene torches, fire hoses and a heavy duty crane to dig their way through an estimated eight tons of broken and freshly poured cement, structural steel and timber.

Injured were Ernest Di Pede, 40, John Pede, 36, and Sovia Colella, 27.

Mayor Nathan Phillips said the disaster "comes as a shock to me. . . . There should be an immediate investigation to see where the fault was."

At the time of the cave-in, bystanders said they heard a crash, screams—then silence.

The excavation at the cave-in point is about 60 feet deep. "The floor fell about 10 feet. Then a wall of earth fell on top of us," Di Pede said.

Express Kills Track Men

MERANO, Italy (UPI)—Three workers were killed yesterday when an express train ploughed into them while they were repairing a track in the station here. They failed to notice the train as it pulled in.

Up to Courts to Back Bill of Rights—Fulton

OTTAWA (CP)—Justice Minister Fulton said Friday it is up to the courts to back up the principles set out in Canada's Bill of Rights.

MPs should not feel they have been taken by surprise when they find this is the case, Mr. Fulton said.

FALLING SHORT

He was replying in the Commons to opposition arguments on instances which they claimed illustrated that the bill is falling short of its intended goal.

Mr. Fulton said it was carefully explained when the bill was before the House that "the courts are the integral and essential part of the protection of rights."

He added: "All the legislature can do is define the rights and put them in statute form."

Persons who felt their rights had been violated should seek their restitution from the courts.

TWO CASES

Members complained of discrimination against a young engineer who fell in love with an Eskimo girl and a woman draughtsman allegedly fired from her Calgary job for praising Castro's Cuba.

CCF members brought up the cases of Valerie Smith, 26, and Australian Terry Whitefield.

INFRINGEMENTS

Both cases, said CCF MPs H. W. Herridge and Frank Howard of B.C., were infringements of the Bill of Rights.

Dismissal of Miss Smith for speaking a "kind word" for Castro clearly demonstrates ineffectiveness of the bill, said Mr. Herridge.

WITH PROVINCES

"We have either to incorporate the bill in the constitution or get agreement with the provinces to enact enabling legislation."

The CCF member added: "Good gracious, if we do not allow an individual to express unpopular opinions, democracy cannot survive."

Drop A-Arms Says Church

VANCOUVER (CP)—The B.C. conference of the United Church of Canada decided Friday to urge all its congregations to support a petition for nuclear disarmament.

The conference urged that nuclear arms be kept out of Canada and that Canada try to limit the number of nuclear powers.

Angry Algerian Settler Mobs Kidnap Police, Stone Troops

ORAN, Algeria (UPI)—Hundreds of European settlers last night fought police with paving stones and roughed up Oran police chief Jules Pletner in protest against the Algerian peace talks.

The mobs grappled with riot squad members and French army troops on a wide avenue in the European section of the port city.

They grabbed Pletner and two police commissioners when they drove up in a jeep to direct police action. While one group held the officials, another group freed rioters locked up in police vans.

The men held Pletner as a hostage against the police fighting them, but a squad of riot police clubbed their way through the crowd, firing clouds of tear gas ahead of them, and freed him. Several policemen were hurt by flying stones in the rescue.

The riot was the most serious in a series that began Saturday with the start of the Algerian rebel-French peace talks.

Settler extremists oppose the talks because they fear they will result in Moslem domination of Algeria.

Crowds of between 500 and 1,000 settler youths have staged "Algeria is French" demonstrations on Oran streets since the negotiations started.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

"Who are you going to vote for?" the man asked. "First of all, let me tell you who I'm not going to vote for," I said. "I'm not going to vote for a candidate with a wide grin..."

"What's wrong with being cheerful?" he interrupted. "... unless he has something else to offer as well," I continued. "A brain, or a conscience."

"Or a political job?" my friend interrupted. "No thanks," I said. "But isn't it depressing to think of all the women who will go to the polls and cast a ballot for what they think is the most handsome candidate, or the taltest, or the one with the most children?"

"It's not depressing to me," he said. "They choose husbands in a similar way, and the country keeps going somehow."

"On the other hand," I said, "I think of all the people, both men and women, who will vote for a party because their fathers or grandfathers always voted that ticket, or because they are afraid of some bogey called 'Socialism' or 'The Money Barons'."

They're Too Lazy

"They don't know what it is, and they are too lazy to find out—but they are afraid of it."

"Uh huh. How should people make up their minds?"

"I suppose they should try to think."

"About what?"

"A number of things. Is the party or the candidate honest; does it have principles, or is it just making up promises and slogans to catch the popular fancy? Is the New Party right or wrong, when it claims that the Liberals and Conservatives are so much alike that they are virtually the same?"

Are the old-line parties right when they claim that the New Party has no platform and no leader?"

"Yes," said my friend. "All those claims are correct."

"Maybe," I said. "The New Party has not held a policy-making convention. It has no leader. And yet we do know something about it. We know that it is further to the left than the Liberals and Conservatives. It would give us more economic planning, more public ownership."

"More rules and regulations? Higher taxes?"

Promise of More

"There might be more rules and regulations—but more benefits," I said. "Of course the taxpayers would have to pay for what they got. The New Party promises more spending on welfare. But they say they will keep nuclear arms out of Canada and spend less on armaments. Cut armaments down."

"The Liberals say they want to keep nuclear arms out of Canada."

"Yes, but they want nuclear arms for NATO. And Canada is in NATO. The Conservatives say they don't want nuclear arms—but they might be forced to accept them, if disarmament talks break down."

"So that's where you get to, with your thinking," said my friend. "The New Party hasn't a policy. The Liberals and Conservatives are identical twins. Maybe the women are smarter than you are, voting for a candidate because they like the cut of his chin."

"The New Party hasn't decided its policy in detail, but the general outlines are there," I objected. "It's further to the left than the other two. It's more strongly against bringing atomic bombs to Canada. It's cooler toward the United States. It is more disposed toward neutralism."

"Yes, yes," said my friend. "but who are you going to vote for?"

"I'm not going to tell you," I said.

UBC Closing Fitness Book

VANCOUVER (CP)—The University of British Columbia physical education department has gone out of the publishing business.

After sending out almost 4,000 copies of an "instant fitness" course to askers from every province and every state in the United States the department called it quits.

The flood of requests followed release earlier this month of the outcome of studies of isometric or static muscle training by Dr. Max Howell, professor of physical education.

Blame for Babies' Bow-Legs Belongs to Deficient Diet

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, MD

"Dear Dr. Molner: Is there danger of a baby's weight causing it to be badly legged or bow-legged in later years as a result of trying to walk too early? By 'too early' I mean nine months.—A. B. R."

Adults may do all sorts of idiotic things, but tiny babies don't. They rely on their instincts which, over the centuries, have become extremely reliable guides.

The age at which a baby ought to start walking varies a great deal, depending on the weight, development and subtle but sure inclinations of an infant.

Some babies start walking or getting up uncertainly on their legs sooner than nine months. Others wisely won't try it until they are a year old or frequently a good deal later.

Why? Because some are ready early and some aren't ready until later. I sometimes winced at the futility of parents who try to force things, and keep trying to hold a baby up and "make him walk" when the baby knows that he isn't ready yet, so he just lets his legs fold up under him. I dare say the baby's good sense thus prevents any damage to his little legs.

But when a baby, in such circumstances, puts his feet down and tries to hold his weight, he's ready!

NOT READY

No, I don't think babies ever become bow-legged from trying to stand up too soon. If he isn't ready to try, he just won't. Bow-legs exist. It is true. But the main reason is a deficiency in diet, and with modern food distributing, refrigeration and all that, bowed legs are becoming rarer and rarer.

"Dear Dr. Molner: What is the cause of a scar on the lung? I have heard of a spot on a lung but not a scar. Is it serious?—F. R."

A "spot on the lung" is something that can be detected by X-ray. It may or may not be a scar. Any number of things can scar a lung—TB, fungus infection, histoplasmosis, an actual wound. Whatever the cause, if it heals but leaves a scar, a small one isn't going to hurt.

When a doctor finds a "spot," he keeps watch and may do certain tests to ascertain its nature. But if, year after year, a scar doesn't change, there's no reason to fret about it.

"Dear Dr. Molner: Is there any harm in having a daily bowel movement before bed time, rather than in the morning? I presume the time of day is of little importance.—E. L."

You're entirely right—no importance.

The Salvation Army's Matson Sunset Lodge-Red Shield fund drive has entered the home stretch.

Less than $90,000 remains to be collected to reach the $245,000 goal.

Campaign workers met Friday and tabulated a total collection of approximately $155,000. Of this, $80,000 came from advance and special names collections, $32,000 from residential.

SPECIAL MENTION

Campaign workers singled out Dr. Robert Stark, chairman of Rotary's "Klondyke Night" committee for special mention for his work as a canvass team captain.

House Cheer For Green Aimed at B.C.

OTTAWA (CP)—External Affairs Minister Howard Green was greeted with loud applause in the Commons yesterday when he rose to reply to a question.

M. W. Hertridge (CCF—Kootenay West) said he wished the editor of the Vancouver Province had been present to hear the applause. The Province in an editorial last week called for Mr. Green's resignation.

We Tend to Overlook Tourists from B.C.

From Monday through Saturday, the annual Tourist Appreciation Week is again sponsoring the Tourist Appreciation Week in Greater Victoria. The annual project is widely supported throughout the area both by citizens and civic and provincial leaders. It is a one-day celebration of the value of Tourist Appreciation Week.

By R. IAN ROSS
President and Managing Director, The Butchart Gardens Ltd.

Everyone who visits in a community such as Greater Victoria, who neither resides nor works in this community, is a tourist, and any money they spend on entertainment, food, lodging and sightseeing should necessarily be classified as "tourist dollars."

We sometimes lose sight of this fact when we, in the visitor industry, unconsciously classify tourists as those visitors from outside the confines of our wonderful province.

If one stops to think of the grand total of visitors in these terms and hazard a guess as to the amount of dollars spent in the Greater Victoria area by these and the others from outside our province, one can readily realize there is an ever-growing amount of money left here by these visitors which is available for the upkeep and improvement of our many amenities.

OTTAWA (CP)—A post office press release which described Postmaster-General William Hamilton as a "mile-a-minute" cabinet minister drew a barb in the Commons.

Convicts Buy Way Out For Only $2

TRENTON, N.J. (AP)—A "do-it-yourself appeals kit" for convicts is being sold by a Wisconsin lawyer for $2 each, says Archibald Kreiger, a legal in the Passaic county prosecutor's office.

He found out about the kit while investigating a flood of appeals.

It contains indexed court cases and ways for a prisoner to get his case back before the court and, says Kreiger, gives them "a good chance to while away their time."

Some even get out for a court hearing and "a weekend excursion back home."

BELLEVEILLE, Ont.—A coroner's jury ruled Cubmaster Thomas Williamson, 41, strangled Tommy McNevin, 10, in March and then committed suicide "while in an unstable mind caused by financial difficulties."

VANCOUVER—Alfred Scow, 33, of Alert Bay, first B.C. native Indian to become a lawyer, says he hopes he has broken a trail for other Indians to follow. He graduated from UBC Thursday.

QUEBEC CITY—Never forget your heritage. Israeli Premier Ben-Gurion told Canadian Jews in an appeal for funds for Israel. In urging Canada to act as a mediator around the globe and especially in Israel's area, Ben-Gurion said: "We want peace but we will fight to defend our freedom and culture."

LONDON—Britain named its committee to investigate security in the wake of two major spy cases. Members are Frederick Deakin, former head of a military mission to Yugoslavia's wartime guerrilla force; Field Marshal Sir Gerald Templer, former high commissioner in Malaya; Kenneth Younger, former Labor MP, and Sir David Milne, a career civil servant.

LONDON—Actress Sarah Churchill has formed her own theatre company because "I'm tired of being dictated to and told what to do."

NEW YORK—Jean McCarthy, 136, widow of Republican Sen. Joseph McCarthy, is reported planning to marry Democrat Joseph Minetti, 53, a member of the Civil Aeronautics Board.

MONTREAL—Carole Dahaner, 21, only girl in a class of 22, ranked first in chemical engineering at McGill University this year.

WASHINGTON—Defence Secretary Robert McNamara said he had complete confidence in the U.S. joint chiefs of staff and did not intend to replace any of them before their normal terms run out.

PARIS—An announcement that visiting Queen Fabiola of Belgium is ill heightened speculation she is expecting a baby, but a later announcement said she has tonsillitis.

REGINA—CCF national leader Hazen Argue says all he wants in the race with Premier Tommy Douglas for leadership of the New Party is "a fair deal."

SAN JOSE, Calif.—Pregnant Mrs. Sandra Conley, 19, was charged with child beating. Her five-month-old daughter has five broken ribs and fractures of both arms, both legs, jaw and collar bone.

Allies to Test Space Link

LONDON (CP)—The British, French and United States governments have agreed to set up a series of joint experiments testing the feasibility of using satellites for transatlantic tele-communications, a General Post Office spokesman said yesterday.

In Ottawa yesterday, Deputy Transport Minister John Baldwin said Canada plans to send a small group of engineers to Britain to work on the project.

Two Charged Socialite Women Murdered

PLAINFIELD, N.J. (AP)—Two young Negroes were charged with murder in the abduction and slaying Friday of two prominent middle-aged women, police chief Arthur Phillips said last night.

Both women, one a grandmother, had been raped. Phillips said Lorette Parks, 22, of Plainfield, and Joseph Maxey, 23, of Dunellen, will be arraigned today.

Slain were Mrs. Elliott Ewell, 49, wife of the executive vice-president of the Mack Truck Co. of Plainfield, and Mrs. Robert Tyson, 50, wife of a New York stockbroker and former Mack executive.

Police arrested the two youths as a result of tips from an alert patrolman and a taxi driver who knew one of the victims.

The body of Mrs. Ewell, stripped below the waist and with her red silk dress over her head, was found crumpled under the front wheel of her car.

Detectives said she had been run over more than once as she apparently tried to flee. Mrs. Tyson was found strangled inside the car.

Canada Drifting to Isolation in Trade

COPENHAGEN (CP)—Canadian delegates to the congress of the International Chamber of Commerce generally agreed Friday that Canada is headed toward isolation while the rest of the world is joining one trading block or another.

The 47-member Canadian delegation reviewed proceedings at a special gathering prior to the final general meeting of the week-long congress which has brought 2,500 business leaders from around the world to Copenhagen.

Some Canadian delegates felt that Canada will face greater trade difficulties unless she decides to join one of the trade groups—regardless of any future action by Britain.

Gerald Ryan of Montreal, former chairman of the Canadian Council of the ICC, said this is the first congress at which Canadian delegates actually realized they are facing real trade problems and that something will have to be done.

He said the formation of trading blocks in Europe and the recession in the United States and Canada has emphasized this problem.

Fault for Fault's Sake

IT IS natural enough that during an election campaign—or at any other time for that matter—opposition groups which seek to defeat a government candidate should condemn all that government stands for, high, wide and handsome. Natural, that is, because of our political system.

It presents a queer anomaly nevertheless. The elected administration is known as Her Majesty's Government and the principal defeated group as Her Majesty's Loyal Opposition. On the face of it the situation is paradoxical, for the opposition seeks immediately after an election and continuously thereafter to frustrate, hamper and if possible to upset the government elected in the name of the crown to which it, the opposition, is pledged to be loyal. A student of semantics could be excused if he were confused by either the terminology or the practices which arise out of it.

The test of a political system is how it works, of course, and ours does work—to a practical degree at least. No one has yet thought of another system which permits a greater play of freedom or gives wider expression to the variety of political opinion held throughout the country. Because it must daily meet the challenge of an opposition, also, the system impels a government to be answerable for everything it does.

Inevitably, however, the corollary of this is that opposition groups become professional fault-finders. So much do they conceive their duty to be to "oppose" that they seldom if ever agree to anything that a government says, suggests or does. They become so partisan in fact not even an archangel could please them.

Secretly and in private opposition members might applaud or approve some government action or intention but the role is to criticize it per se. It is considered to be disloyal to Her Majesty's Loyal Opposition to imply any loyalty to Her Majesty's Government.

It is patent that any government would introduce good works on occasion but even this an opposition will not concede; its code is to condemn no matter that it might not be able to suggest anything better, or that if in office itself it would do exactly as the government is doing.

In short, criticism for criticism's sake becomes a paramount attitude for opposing groups.

As has been indicated this has been established as the customary role of opposition groups under the political system in countries like our own. That does not deny the weakness of their position. They are bound by their own rules to find fault with everything not of their own coinage.

This has been well illustrated during the four present byelection campaigns across the country, wherein each of the candidates opposed to the government has kept up a continuous barrage of criticism and condemnation. They could not do other since they are pledged to oppose and nothing else.

But obviously this means that their claims are suspect and that most of what they say must be discounted, for its basis is fashioned on the thesis that fault must be found for fault's sake.

Spithead at Victoria

IN A SPLENDIDLY all-embracing gesture invitations are being sent by the Mayor to Commonwealth high commissioners and foreign ambassadors in Ottawa seeking the entry of their countries in a naval review scheduled as one of the centennial events next year. If they all come it should be Spithead in Victoria.

It is a happy idea. Victorians remember the fleet review three years ago when Princess Margaret took the salute of RCN and USN ships assembled along Royal Roads. Even more so because the naval units were closer at hand, they recall the spectacular display by RCN vessels a year later in front of Beacon Hill Park during the Queen's visit.

A duplication of either of these naval occasions, with perhaps a large influx of foreign ships, would undoubtedly be a highlight of the centennial program. Presumably the chances are favorable that some of the invitations will be accepted.

The Beacon Hill anchorage, we understand, is not so suitable as that at Royal Roads but it is much more convenient for spectators, and if the assemblage could be staged in front of the park, even if offshore to a degree, this would enhance what in any event would be a first-class centennial attraction.

Bogeyman Tactics

THE Liberal Party gives the voters of Esquimalt-Saanich low marks for intelligence.

Arbitrarily, and with more than a hint of the out-of-touch arrogance that led to its downfall in Ottawa, the party has sought to dictate through the byelection campaign that there is but one big issue, nuclear arms for Canada.

This is nonsense. It indicates only that the Liberals are desperately devoid of appealing ideas for service to the constituency their candidate aspires to represent.

The turnabout attitude of Liberal leader Lester Pearson alone is enough to disqualify nuclear arms for Canada as an issue. But common sense disqualifies it too.

The Conservative government has not come to a decision for or against acquiring nuclear arms for Canada, and is not planning to do so in haste. The Liberals are asking Esquimalt-Saanich to vote against a policy which does not exist—or alternatively, for their own policy which is demonstrably changeable.

The Liberals currently pretend to fear that if Canada decides to have nuclear warheads, the danger of becoming involved in a war will be increased. The only potential launchers or carriers of nuclear warheads that Canada has or plans to have are defensive. If the day ever arrives when they are used, war already will have come to Canada.

The Liberals say—at present—that Canada should have no nuclear weapons because without them, it is in the best position to persuade other powers to join the "non-nuclear club". Does the pauper more convincingly advocate the redistribution of wealth than the millionaire?

The Liberal Party has resorted to bogeyman tactics in the Esquimalt-Saanich byelection, and that is no compliment to the people of the constituency.

"We don't want no troublemakers from the United States"

Teaching Recent History

PERHAPS the most difficult task facing Germany today—certainly the most controversial—is the political education in schools.

There are millions of children of the post-Hitler era, children of Jews who narrowly escaped the gas chambers, children of war criminals, children of masses of Germans who submitted willingly or unwillingly to the Nazi way of life. Their teachers are former Nazis and anti-Nazis, some reformed, some unrepentant. And they all have the same problem: how to teach the new generation an understanding of the errors and crimes of the past without destroying the authority of the older generation which represents that very period of German history.

In the years immediately after the collapse the task was comparatively easy. School children could see for themselves the chaos that had come from the deeds of their elders. Allied control commissions saw to it that the lesson was driven home in the first makeshift classrooms amidst the ruins.

Then came the period of reconstruction, later of unprecedented prosperity. One began to hear less and more about the bright, promising present. It was not the "conspiracy of silence" which some observers suspected, rather the normal effect of time on human memory, where the good is preserved longer than the bad.

Text books still mentioned the Hitler era as one of the more unpleasant periods of history, but the terminology became more vague. "Hitler persecuted the Jews with fanatic hatred and regarded them as an inferior race," one such book states without bothering to refute Hitler's racial theories.

In another book, German rearmament in the 1930's is explained thus: "Because the other powers would not disarm, Germany left the League of Nations and claimed the right to arm as well."

Toward the end of 1958 and in the early months of 1959, after young hoodlums had painted swastikas on German synagogues and war memorials, education authorities were forced by public opinion at home and abroad to take another look at the curriculum in recent history. Surveys showed that the knowledge of young people about the 1933-1945 period was disastrously inadequate. When questioned about Hitler, some youngsters replied that he was the originator of super-highways while a few others remembered that he had killed and imprisoned a few thousand Jews.

The result was a conference of all regional education ministers (in Germany, as in Canada, education is the prerogative of the autonomous provinces, or Lander) at which a complete reform of school books and teaching methods was decided. The first effects of this reform are now becoming apparent.

Education authorities are demanding—and getting—books in which the Nazi period is treated extensively and fairly intelligently. Other educational materials, especially films, are made available to schools and discussion among students and teachers is encouraged.

The recent TV series "The Third Reich" has been shown to groups of high school students and has led to considerable controversy. In several instances, where youngsters asked uncomfortable questions at home afterwards, ex-Nazi parents protested to school authorities, usually unsuccessfully.

One difficulty still lies with the teachers themselves. Many of those over 35 have a Nazi past. Only a few can make the enormously difficult decision of saying to their students: "Yes, I was a Nazi. Now I know better."

Many more stop the discussion when students start probing: "What were you doing when all this happened?" Wherever possible, an attempt is now being made to entrust classes on recent political history to younger teachers whose age group is untainted.

Instructions to teachers to stop the practice of recent years to justify the Nazi regime by quoting non-German authors and statesmen who endorsed Hitler in the early years, by plugging the old story that practically nobody in Germany knew about the gas chambers and that Hitler created a bulwark against Communism. Even the claim by many teachers and parents that it is bad for young people to get an inferiority complex about their country is now officially dismissed.

The manual for teachers in West Berlin specifies in detail how political education should be given. Examples of totali-

Washington Calling

Stakes Too High to Quit

By MARQUEN CHILDS
from Geneva

IN this city where diplomacy is an industry it is sometimes hard to realize how much turns on what a few men say—or fail to say—around a conference table. That is now painfully, almost agonizingly, clear in the nuclear test talks that in October will have gone on for three years without agreement on a system to prevent such tests.

If some progress is not made in the near future the pressures to break off the talks, coming largely from the United States, will prevail. That will, in turn, almost certainly mean a new, accelerated round of nuclear armament, with vastly increased hazards of a nuclear accident and a nuclear war.

This is plain to the men who sit around the table for the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union, and it is clearly evident to President Kennedy. It may, in fact, be the principal reason why he wants to meet Premier Khrushchev—to say with all the gravity he can command that for the Soviets to persist in demanding a veto over the nuclear control machinery will mean the end of any hope of disarmament and invite the most terrible consequences for the entire world.

Inch-by-inch progress had been made toward the kind of control system the Western powers believe essential to police an agreement ending nuclear tests. Then on the very day, March 21, that the talks started up again under the Kennedy administration, the Soviet delegate, Semyon Tsarapkin, laid down a demand for a tripartite control body. One member would represent the West, one the Soviet Union, and one the neutral bloc, and their decisions would have to be unanimous. In short, the built-in veto which is wholly unacceptable to Britain and the United States.

But Arthur Dean, the head of the American delegation named by Kennedy, has refused to desist. A sensible, down-to-earth man with considerable experience in negotiating with the Russians—he headed the American team that wrangled at Panmunjom over the settlement of the Korean War—he is convinced that the stakes are too high to give up easily. He believes that Britain and America should persist up to perhaps another year in the talks.

The reasoning behind his case as he is putting it to the six members of the Joint Congressional Atomic Committee in Geneva is as follows. First, Dean is convinced that resuming testing following a break-off of the talks will benefit the Soviets far more than the United States, since American nuclear weaponry is well ahead of Soviet weaponry. Second, he points out that in the American arsenal there is already a nuclear volume two and a half times larger enough to destroy all of Russia, together with the means to deliver it. So what is to be gained by further improving and refining this weaponry if there is even a slight chance of making the nuclear arms race?

A shrewd and realistic man eminently successful at the law as head of the great firm of Sullivan and Cromwell, which John Foster Dulles once headed, Dean is entirely aware of the power of the forces pressing for an end of the talks and a renewal of weapons testing in the United States. But he can cite positive values that have come out of this latest round of talks.

The prelude was more auspicious in that for the first time under Kennedy's leadership all elements in the American government were united on a position. Equally important, for the first time the British and the American positions were completely in agreement. And the two Western powers were able to lay on the conference table the complex of a treaty they were willing to sign. Dean and Sir Michael Wright, head of the British delegation, have been patiently expounding the articles of the treaty in one session after another.

As a consequence, opinion in neutral countries has begun to turn in favor of the West and against the Soviet Union as the power that is blocking a ban on testing. Editorial opinion in such key countries as Sweden and India is reported to be definitely adding to the efforts of the Western powers to get an effective treaty that will provide genuine safeguards. The importance of this is underscored by the fact that until recently Soviet propaganda had succeeded in putting the blame largely on the United States for the failure to reach agreement.

Tsarapkin recognized this when he introduced for the first time the charge that the United States and Britain were back of France's nuclear tests and benefitting from them. Strong denials were entered, but President de Gaulle's insistence on trying to take France down the nuclear road with independent tests is unquestionably a point of vulnerability for the two Western powers.

At one point in these marathon talks Tsarapkin was taxed with the charge most frequently made by those demanding American tests be resumed—that the Soviets have secretly cheated during the moratorium on tests that now for nearly three years has been unpoliced and unmonitored. Replying with visible indignation, he said, in effect, "Do you think we would risk cheating for the little gain that could come out of it against the great loss if we were discovered?"

Those who have followed the talks most closely in season and out believe this is approximately true. It is one reason why, against the almost certain prospect of a swift escalation of the nuclear arms race as an alternative, they believe the talks must for a time continue.

Fun, Fact And Fiction

"I wish to make a complaint," said a man to a post office official. "For some time I have been receiving disagreeable and threatening letters through the post. How can I stop it?"

"I think we can help you," replied the official. "That sort of thing is forbidden, you know."

"Oh, good," replied the man. "Have you any idea where these letters come from? Do you know who sends them?"

"Oh, yes. They all come from the income tax collector."

Soviet Agriculture

Crying Out for Reforms

By ISAAC DEUTSCHER

THE "defenders of the kolkhoz" in the Soviet Union have asked for the introduction of a guaranteed minimum wage for collective farmers. At present the collective farm is still in this respect similar to a co-operative in that the labor of its members is paid, rather irregularly, partly in cash, partly in kind, out of its annual income, according to the size of the income.

In recent years an effort has been made to replace payment in kind by wages in cash. But the rates have varied from place to place and have been below subsistence level in some poor farms. The Central Committee has so far rejected the demand for a regular minimum wage.

Finally the advocates of further concessions have asked that social services should be extended to the entire rural population—until now only the workers and employees of state-owned enterprises and farms have benefited from national medical aid, pension schemes, etc. The Central Committee has rejected this proposal too.

All the same, the economists continue to voice all these demands in their periodicals; and there are new and significant tones in their discussions. Much attention, for instance, has lately been aroused by a book under the title "A Meditation on Communism" by Ivan Vinnichenko, because of its emphasis on the need for genuine economic autonomy and for a democratization of the collective farms.

The author goes further and demands that even the state-owned farms be taken out of government control and turned into co-operatives—he argues in effect for the complete de-stalinization of agriculture. This is probably an extreme viewpoint, but it is remarkable that it should be voiced. Generally speaking, the debates reflect a growing awareness of the need for new reforms more thoroughgoing than any carried out in recent years.

New problems have arisen in connection with the growth of the so-called inter-kolkhoz associations. This has been quite a recent development, dating back only to 1959, when the first such associations were set up in the Poltava region in the Ukraine. At present 85 per cent of the Ukraine's collective farms participate in these associations, which have spread to many other areas as well. The impulse for the movement has been primarily economic. The association should help the farms to combine their resources for the joint building of power stations, roads, hospitals, the joint implementation of irrigation schemes, etc. These are super-co-operatives in which collective farms participate as shareholders, elect their own managements, struggle with overlapping bureaucratic bodies, and sometimes even supersede them.

Thus, the inter-kolkhoz associations tend to grow into an autonomous representation of farming interests. The friction between officialdom and the associations is unmistakable. The associations aspire to set up their regional and even national organizations. This is giving trouble to the Presidium and the Central Committee which have repeatedly discussed the matter without arriving at a conclusion.

In the meantime the movement has been growing above the heads of the local bureaucrats, which have been afraid of its impetus and do not know whether to resist it or to authorize it and then try to bring it under control. On this line the latest session of the Central Committee has had nothing to say.

There then are the real issues behind Khrushchev's many speeches and tours of the farming areas, the threats and the increased penalties. All the decisions taken so far have been of a purely negative character and designed to mark time. It may be that the party leaders are waiting for the result of this year's agricultural campaign. In the hope that a good harvest will solve some difficulties and mitigate others. But it is not likely that the major issues will become less pressing or that punitive measures will solve them.

As the first post-Stalin decade is nearing its close, Soviet farming is crying out for new policy decisions and new reforms.

South Erodes Freedom Doctrine

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press

President Kennedy appears to have timed his "freedom doctrine" with his first attempt at summitry in the hope of impressing uncommitted nations with his good intentions after a bad start in the Cuban debacle.

Unfortunately for him, in the sensitive game of courting the uncommitted nations, a different kind of struggle for freedom is being fought in the streets of the United States under the bright glare of the world press.

It may be difficult for the natives in the new and uncommitted nations of Africa and Asia to be impressed with Kennedy's freedom doctrine when Negro citizens of the United States are being pushed the sensitive game of courting the uncommitted nations, a

"We stand for freedom," Kennedy said and almost as if he spoke a band of white youths in a fast-moving automobile were reported to have shot and wounded a Negro leader at Montgomery, Ala.

Three Negro leaders and eight "Freedom Riders" were jailed at Montgomery when they tried to get a cup of coffee in the bus terminal.

At Jackson, Miss., another group of the riders were jailed for disturbing the peace.

Arrests May Spark New Freedom Rides

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI) — Twenty-seven "Freedom Riders" were convicted yesterday of breaking a Mississippi anti-riot law and were given suspended sentences of 60 days in jail and fined $200 each.

The convictions were expected to touch off a new, massive wave of "Freedom Rides" into Mississippi and other parts of the South, possibly as early as this weekend.

ADOLF EICHMANN

Judge James Spencer handed down his decision after delivering a statement from the bench saying it was patently clear that the defendants had come to Mississippi choosing "to take the law into their own hands and to engage in open defiance of the laws of Mississippi."

He said Attorney-General Robert Kennedy had been "so convinced" that the action of the riders might lead to "mob action" that he had sent 700 federal agents to follow "in their wake."

The legal team for the defendants hammered away at the contention that the arrests at the Jackson bus station was planned from the time the Negroes and their two white companions left the Montgomery bus terminal on Wednesday under the bayonets of Alabama national guardsmen.

U.S. Aims Prejudice

Negro Seen As President In 30 Years

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Attorney-General Robert Kennedy said in a world broadcast yesterday that prejudice exists in this country but predicted a Negro could be elected president of the United States within the next 30 or 40 years.

In a voice of America broadcast beamed to more than 60 countries, Kennedy said the United States fully admits it has race troubles. But he stressed that the federal government is trying to take steps to protect the rights of all citizens.

He referred specifically to the racial strife of the past two weeks in Alabama which he said "the whole world knows about because we have an open society and do not hide our mistakes."

But in his global broadcast, the attorney-general said that the persons who cause racial violence in this country are just a "small minority."

The Byelection

It never fails to baffle me how in a rapidly changing world, supposedly informed and educated people still cling tenaciously and dangerously to the outmoded Model T economic principles of the ins and the outs, Liberals and Conservatives. . . . Cease-Fire Violated By New Red Gunfire

PADONG, Laos (UPI) — Heavy fighting raged Friday in the mountains near Padong as leftist rebels pounded royal Lao government positions with an artillery bombardment for the third consecutive day.

Laoan officers said a day's bombardment of 200 rounds in violation of the cease-fire appeared to be the prelude to an all-out assault by rebels using Red Chinese "human wave" techniques.

IN THE OFFING

They feared the bloodiest fighting of the Laotian civil war might be in the offing.

It was the third day of attack against government positions in this mountain stronghold barely 20 miles from the rebel "capital" of Xieng Khouang despite a cease-fire supposed to have been in effect since May 3.

KEY RIDGE

Two companies of attacking rebel infantry were driven back in a three-hour battle Thursday as they tried to capture a key ridge from which royal army gunners aim defensive mortar fire at the rebels.

The growing campaign against Padong, home of the Meo mountain tribesmen, has been marked by increasing numbers of infantry attacks.

British Plead To Moscow

LONDON (Reuters) — Britain will appeal directly to Moscow for quick agreement on further instructions for the international control commission now supervising the cease-fire in Laos, it was announced Friday.

Britain and Russia, co-chairmen of the Geneva conference on the future of strife-torn Laos, reached deadlock Thursday on what further instructions they should give the commission.

Helped Beat Young Boy

Jew Accuses Eichmann Of 'Personal' Murder

JERUSALEM (UPI) — A Hungarian-born Jew testified yesterday that Adolf Eichmann helped beat to death a Jewish boy who stole cherries from the garden of his villa in Budapest.

Abraham Gordon, 35, told the court trying Eichmann for war crimes that he saw the former Nazi and his bodyguard drag the boy into a tool shed, heard "awful screams" and the sound of beating, saw bloodstains on Eichmann's shirt when he emerged. Then he watched the boy's body dragged out to be dumped into a river.

Gordon stood by his account in spite of a raking cross-examination by defence counsel Robert Servatius and searching questions by the three-man panel of judges. The judges had Gordon draw a penciled sketch of the villa, garden, toolshed and other pertinent details.

Eichmann listened poker-faced but unusually intently to Gordon's testimony.

It was the first time in the seven-week trial that a witness has testified that Eichmann himself actually spilled Jewish blood.

After the beating, Gordon said, the bodyguard called Eichmann's chauffeur and the two dragged the boy's body out of the toolshed by the feet and tossed it into a car.

"There was no sign of life. . . . he was not a human figure anymore. . . . his face was swollen and his limbs were torn," he said.

Mounts Rally

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market mounted a good rally. The blue chips which have dropped all week — Du Pont, General Motors and American Telephone — found support at last and recovered well. Texaco advanced 5 1/2% on the report that a 2 for 1 stock split is planned. Ford was jolted downward 2 1/2 points to 85 by news that the Ford Foundation plans a public offering of 2,750,000 shares of stock.

Trust Stock Rises

MONTREAL (CP) — Stocks declined mainly fractionally in moderate trading. Montreal Trust gained 1 1/2% at 67, Hudson's Bay Co. improved 1/2% at 27 1/2 and Canadian Breweries at 49 1/2 and Canadian Celanese at 26 1/2 both dropped 1/2%.

Grain Markets

WINNIPEG (CP) — Most prices showed a firm tone influenced by the continued dry prairie weather. The rye market was irregular reflecting the Chicago trade but firm periods were noted.

Industrials Fall

TORONTO (CP) — Most of major industrial groups fell heavily. Goods and financial institutions led the way down. Mining trading eased in volume and prices fell steadily throughout the day.

Coppers Weaken

VANCOUVER — Coppers were weak in fairly active trading. Granduc slipped to $10 and Cragmont to $13, while Bethlehem, Cowichan, and Torwest also lost ground.

London Stock Prices

LONDON (CP) — Stock prices were mixed. The market was buoyant and mixed. Trans Mountain topped trading and closed above its low at $13 1/2, while MacMillan Power held at $16.

Wenner-Gren Taps U.S. Funds for B.C.

TORONTO (CPI) — Wenner-Gren Explorations Ltd. expects to spend about $400,000 this year in mining exploration work, most of it in northern British Columbia. Ronald B. McCartney, managing director, said Friday.

The company, formed recently under Ontario charter, has taken over the mining interests previously held by Wenner-Gren B.C. Development Company.

Mr. McCartney said it has present financing of $1,000,000 from an American group which has underwritten 250,000 shares at a price that nets the company $4 a share. Total capitalization, in addition to the 250,000 held by the American group, 425,000, have been issued to the predecessor Wenner-Gren interests and 135,000 to Bardyke Mines Ltd. which arranged the present consolidation of interests and spent some $75,000 in financing activities this year to date.

Mr. McCartney, who is also president of Bardyke, said present financing will take care of exploration to the end of 1962. If specific mineral finds were made, new financing would be sought for them.

The Wenner-Gren mining interests taken over include 400 staked claims in 16 groups mostly running north from central British Columbia to the Yukon border.

Mr. McCartney said application has been made to the United States Securities and Exchange Commission for approval of listing of shares of the new company for sale in the United States. At present they are not listed anywhere.

B. G. Gore, of London, England, an adviser to Axel Wenner-Gren, Swedish industrialist, is chairman of the new company. Other directors, in addition to Mr. McCartney, are K. B. Strid, Stockholm; R. L. Rockefeller and Charles Leonard Jr., New York; E. M. Gunderson, Vancouver, and A. H. Ross, Toronto.

Lieutenant-Governor George Pearkes was made an honorary life member of the Dominion Association of the Army, Navy and Air Force Veterans of Canada at a ceremony at Government House Thursday.

Mr. Pearkes, who is patron of Victoria Unit No. 12, was presented with a life membership certificate and medal by unit president David M. Pye. The unit's entire executive body of 13 members was present for the ceremony.

Polaris Haters Facing Charges

DUNOON, Scotland (Reuters) — Thirty anti-nuclear demonstrators who protested last weekend against U.S. Polaris submarines moored near here were ordered Friday to appear in court on charges of breach of peace and obstruction of police.

First Step Taken Toward Terminal

By TOM GREEN
OTTAWA (Staff) — Transport Minister Leon Bales and A. DeB. McPhillips, Conservative MP for Victoria, announced yesterday tenders for the construction of sewer and water facilities for the new air terminal building at Patricia Bay will be called shortly.

The contract will mark the first step in the building of a $1,500,000 air terminal. It is expected that tenders for the general contract will be called later this year.

Negotiations for the diversion of two roads in the airport area are proceeding satisfactorily with provincial government authorities, the announcement added.

"The fight for the Victoria International Airport terminal has been won," Mr. McPhillips added. "It is now settled that the total installation will be proceeded with at once."

"There were those who felt that the inroads made upon air services out of Victoria by the provincial government ferries should result in a diminution in the size of our terminal facilities. But this I opposed most strongly and was able to show that our capital city and the fact that this was an international airport warranted the originally contemplated expenditure."

False Claims For Benefits Bring Fines

William Cooke, 832 Hockley, Langford, pleaded guilty in Colwood police court yesterday to four charges of making false statements to obtain unemployment insurance benefits. He was fined $10 on each count.

A. C. D. King, enforcement officer who appeared on behalf of the Unemployment Insurance Commission, pointed out to the court that the matter of a public fund was involved.

In city court yesterday Conrad Hungle and James Cruikshank, doing business as Doric Motors Ltd., at 650 Burnside East, pleaded guilty to failing to apply for a dealer's licence. Hungle was fined $20; sentence for Cruikshank was suspended.

Jerry Hawes, 2543 Government, was placed under bond of $100 for six months to keep the peace, after pleading guilty to a charge of common assault.

Court was told Hawes struck Mitchell Swaine, 16, on the mouth May 5 at the corner of Douglas and Dupplin, breaking a dental plate.

Forest Fire Threat Rises

Firefighting costs skyrocketed during the past week as all districts reported an increase in the hazards, forest service officials reported yesterday.

The hardest hit area continues to be the Peace River district in northern B.C. where zooming temperatures and dry conditions pushed the hazard up to high.

Costs last week amounted to $37,930—four times as much as the total costs during the first three weeks after the official fire season opened May 1. Of this, $32,700 was charged against Prince George district which includes the Peace River.

Totals since the season began now stand at 223 fires costing $47,150 to fight as against 242 fires costing $23,866 at the same time last year.

In the Vancouver district, which includes Vancouver Island, there have been 17 fires costing $270.

In Alberta, three fires burned out of control but 71 others were contained. Forestry officials feared continued hot weather would quickly evaporate the effect of Thursday's showers.

Western Canada forecasts offered little hope of a general rain.

OPEN HOUSE — 1575 ROCKLAND AVE.

TODAY — 11 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Actually I know the property well. Rumor has it that the eighteen-year-old family residence was designed by that eminent Architect, Sir Timothy Taltethwaite. It is a curious house in that—from the road it is somewhat reminiscent of the Rev. Treadwell's small Tudor vicarage, yet it contains a large Drawing Room, Dining Room, bright modern kitchen and a guest powder room. Approached by a fine staircase, the second floor contains four bedrooms and two bathrooms. There is a magnificent rumpus room with brick fireplace and a bar furnished with hot and cold water and a door leading to the patio. Adjacent to the rumpus room is a W.C. and washbasin, both of which are exquisitely encased in a knotty pine enclosure. The views are magnificent from all rooms. There is a double drive-in garage and oil hot water heating. Come and see this charming residence, so often admired by the passerby. It is priced for immediate sale at the drastically reduced figure of $24,750.00. ($6500.00 Down).

P.S. Unable to get there myself—only I was watching the 330 race, my shooting stick collapsed under me and I ruined my only decent pair of blue jeans. However, Miss Agatha Ogilthorpe will be there to serve you tea and hot gingerbread—the invasion of these tourists has somewhat depleted our crumpet supply.

"WE LIKE GEORGE HAHN ... and we'll tell you why"

"We've only been living in British Columbia for a few years but we like what Social Credit has done to make it a wonderful place to live. There are fine roads, ferries, bridges, and schools. We particularly like the health, welfare and pension services we've found here, not to mention the homeowner's grant which means a lot to a retired couple like us. We're both voting for George Hahn because we feel he'll be working for more of these worthwhile things by representing B.C. in Ottawa."

Greaves' Wife 'Hated It'

LONDON (AP)—Jimmy Greaves, a British international soccer star who was sold to an Italian team for $250,000, has decided not to play for the team because his pretty, blonde wife does not like the way Italian Romeos behave.

Greaves' announcement touched off a full-scale ruckus Friday here and in Italy. The A.C. Milan team threatened to kill Greaves' soccer career by preventing him from playing for any other team—even for England in the World Cup finals in Chile next year.

British newspapers jubilantly announced the star's decision on their front pages. Mrs. Greaves said her decision to remain in England was made after she and her husband went on a weekend trip to Milan to inspect houses. "Talk about Romeos," she said "They used to put out their hands and touch my hair, or even tug it when I walked along the street. I suppose it's because I'm so fair-haired. I hated it." She is expecting a baby in July.

Cubs Just Full of Ideas On How to Win, or Lose

Chicago Cubs may have trouble figuring out how to win ball games but they demonstrated Friday that they're full of inventive ideas when it comes to losing.

They carried San Francisco Giants into the 13th inning this time, with the score tied 1-1, before they blew the verdict 3-2.

The disastrous inning started with a fumble by third baseman Ron Santo on Jose Pagan's grounder. Singles by Felipe Alou and Harvey Kuenn then accounted for one run and a second scored as outfielder

Billy Williams threw wide past the plate.

The Cub culprits made partial amends in the bottom of the 13th as a single by Williams and Santo's double goal one of the runs back. But Eddie Fisher replaced Giant starter Sam Jones and put out the fire.

It was the sixth straight loss to the Giants for the hapless

In relief after Rocky Colavito's 12th home run had tied it 4-4 in the seventh. Frank Lary was loser.

The former Washington Senators, now Minnesota Twins, returned to the capital for the first time and beaten 4-3 by their 1961 successors.

Rookie Joe McClain won his fifth game in eight decisions with the help of a bases loaded single by Harry Bright that scored the tying and winning runs. For the losers, Lennie Green hit safely in his 23rd consecutive game.

Brother Hits Bad Pitches

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Little Leaguer Ronnie Chambers, 12, hit four home runs and a ground rule double that bonced over the fence during a baseball game Thursday.

The opposing pitcher was his 18-year-old brother, Mike Chambers, who shrugged and said: "I was trying to walk him."

Cubs, who have dropped 24 of their 36 starts this season. But the Cub fielding looked immaculate compared with the performance of the world champion Pittsburgh Pirates, who committed no fewer than six miscues as St. Louis Cardinals thrashed them 12-2.

Ken Boyer drove in six runs with a pair of homers and a single but five of the Cardinals runs were unearned as every member of the Pirate infield erred once and world series hero Bill Mazeroski bobbled twice.

SPANH WINK

Los Angeles Dodgers failed to displace Pittsburgh in second place as southpaw Warren Spahn scattered 10 hits to give Milwaukee Braves a 7-2 victory, the 293rd of his career.

Home runs by Hank Aaron and Frank Thomas and four Milwaukee double plays made Spahn's job easy.

In the American League, Detroit's lead was trimmed to three games when Los Angeles Angels beat the Tigers 5-4 on tie-breaking, eighth-inning double by Earl Averill. Ryno Duren won his first, coming on

THE PALMER METHOD

KEEP THE RIGHT WRIST COCKED

Aussie Cricket Tour Success So Far

Dreary Start Now Forgotten

LONDON (Special) — The Australians have survived a frustrating introduction to the English cricket season and opened up brilliantly with some sparkling stroke-making that has gone a long way to fulfilling their promise of providing top-level entertainment.

But the Aussies' introduction to a new English summer was enough to flatten the spirits of the most stout-hearted and best-intentioned players. In short, it could hardly have been a more miserable beginning in their return to defend the Ashes.

TRADITIONAL OPENING

The traditional opening at Worcester was played in the traditional manner — on a damp ground with a dead wicket and a continual chill in the air that kept the spectators shivering and the players striving to obtain results that were always out of reach.

Short of practice, the Aussies could muster only 177 runs in their opening inning — the lowest total ever made by the visitors at Worcester. When they finally appeared headed for victory rain stepped in to intervene and captain Richie Benaud developed a sore arm.

DREARY DAY

Then on to Derbyshire where the Aussies lost their first two wickets for only 33 runs in a dreary 65 minutes of play. It rained after that and the visitors moved to Yorkshire with less than three days of play under their belts and the prospects of a tough match with England's champion cricket side.

Again the weather played a dominating role in a match reduced to two days but the Australians came out of it better than they dared hope. Young Norman O'Neill scored an unbeaten 100 — the first century of the tour — as the Aussies put on 256 runs before declaring with seven wickets standing.

Against Lancashire the Aussies finally clicked and carved out a brilliant victory featured by some lively stroke-making.

Three Golfers Sharing Uplands Handicap Lead

Dave Jones, Dave Borthwick and F. McClement, all with net 66s, share the lead at the half-way point in the Uplands Cup, handicap golf competition. Second half of the 36-hole event will be held Sunday. The draw:

GUN FIRE CONTROL EXPERT

We have a position open for a Field Engineer who has had experience in Gun Fire Control Systems. This position carries responsibility for supervising a team of technicians in the alignment and testing of Naval Fire Control Systems on board ships.

Experience in Naval Armaments would be an asset; however, experience gained in other Fire Control Systems would be satisfactory as extensive training will be provided.

Interested parties should apply in writing giving full details of education and experience to the Industrial Relations Manager.

3. IF IT'S A BAD IDEA FOR A GOLFER TO KEEP HIS RIGHT WRIST COCKED EVEN FAST IMPACT, THIS CAN'T BE DONE, OF COURSE, SINCE THE WRISTS MUST RELEASE UPON BALL CONTACT. BUT IF YOU THINK ABOUT YOUR HANDS PROPERLY, HERE I AM ABOUT TO HIT THE BALL — AND MY RIGHT WRIST IS STILL COCKED, OR COCKED, AS IT SHOULD BE.

At Indianapolis

Arnie Holds Slight Lead

INDIANAPOLIS (A.P.) — U.S. Open champion Arnold Palmer shot a one-under-par 70 over the Speedway golf course Friday to hold the half-way lead in the $50,000 "500 festival" tournament by one stroke.

Palmer's round of 35-35 included one birdie scored on a 60-foot putt on the 328-yard 12th hole. His 70 gave him a 137 total for the 36 holes.

A 25-mile an hour north wind in 45-degree weather made conditions miserable on the course.

Defending champion Doug Ford picked up a stroke on Palmer with his second successive 69 to grab the runner-up spot with 138.

Jim Ferree and Johnny Pott, who shared the first round lead with Palmer, were among the many in the 153-man field whose play was numbed and buffeted by the rigorous weather. Ferree ballooned to a 76 and Pott took a 72, for half-way scores of 143 and 139 respectively.

Stock Cars Roll Tonight At Speedway

Billy Foster and Ray Pottinger, who scored clean sweeps last weekend, rule as favorites tonight in the combined stock and sprint car meet at Western Speedway.

Foster, currently the hottest driver at the track, posted his sweep in the stock races while Pottinger romped to his sweep in the sprints with his flat-head Ford.

Another feature of tonight's meet will be the first demolition race of the season. Time trials start at 7:30.

Lilacs Hide a Villain

By M. V. CHENUT, FRHS

During the past three weeks I must have had at least 25 letters reporting trouble in lilac bushes. In every case, the symptoms are the same—a portion of the bush is wilting and dying, while the remaining shoots are perfectly healthy and normal.

The villain in the piece is the lilac borer, a wood-boring white caterpillar with a brown head, about 1 1/4 inches long when fully grown. His mother is a moth, although she looks much more like a wasp, with a striped body and transparent wings. Fortunately, she lays her eggs only once a year, usually in June or July, and the present outbreak of lilac troubles is the result of last summer's eggs.

The eggs are deposited only on a lilac, usually on a rough spot of the bark of a branch or shoot. When the eggs hatch, the grub picks a nice tender spot on the bark and starts eating his way into the wood, tunnelling in and up toward the branch tip. If winter overtakes him, he just goes to sleep and starts feeding again in the spring when he awakens. Once he gets well into the core of a branch, that portion of the bush has "had it." We have three jobs to do here. We must try, if possible, to save the infested shoot, we must try to protect our lilac bushes from the egg-laying moth during the next two months and we must do what we can to reduce the population of this pest.

First task is to find the hole where the grub entered the branch. This isn't too hard, as a rule, for he can't bore holes without leaving evidence around the entrance in the form of fine sawdust and excreta, called "frass." When the hole is located, try to fish out the culprit with a crochet hook or a bit of bent wire, then seal up the entrance with mud or putty.

If he is too far in for this fishing expedition, it is possible to kill him by forcing chlordane emulsion up the hole under pressure but I doubt if it is worthwhile going to all this trouble. With deep penetration, the shoot will probably die anyhow and it is simpler to saw off the branch below the hole and burn it and its unwelcome occupant.

To protect our healthy bushes from future infestations, we need some kind of long-lasting bug poison that can be sprayed or painted on the bark and it isn't too easy to find anything suitable that won't wash off in the first rain. One U.S. authority recommends painting the bark with a solution of cottonseed oil and paradichlorobenzene crystals—moth crystals—at the rate of six ounces to each quart of oil.

I haven't tried this myself, as the preparation and application sounds rather messy, but I am assured it gives good protection. I treat our three lilacs every year, toward the end of May, with DDT, and so far I haven't had any trouble, but whether this is due to the DDT or to just plain luck I couldn't say.

I turn the hose on the bushes first, wetting down the shoots and branches thoroughly, then I puff a cloud of 50 per cent wettable DDT through the bush so it adheres to the damp bark.

Ordinary five per cent DDT dust washes off fairly easily. The 50 per cent wettable kind is supposed to be mixed with water and applied as a spray but in this case it washes off too. Applied dry, as a dust, the wettable DDT turns to a paste when rained on but continues to afford protection.

Imagine Dying for Fabian!

Suzie Parker, who has spent much of her movie career on suspension from 20th Century-Fox, is on the verge of it again. "They want me to commit suicide again," said Miss Parker stormily. "I can't go through that again. Even the nurse (for her little girl) was shocked. She said: 'Oh, no, you're not going to commit suicide again!'"

Miss Parker was speaking of a role in a forthcoming picture. She has already committed suicide in one picture, "The Best of Everything," driven the late Gary Cooper to drinking himself to death in "Ten North Frederick" and been left at the end of other pictures in situations which led one to believe that suicide was her only way out.

"They've got all those other girls out there who can commit suicide much better than I can—Hope Lange, Lee Remick, Joanne Woodward. Great actresses, all of them. They went to the Actors Studio, had all those parts on TV, all that training—just to learn how to commit suicide. I don't want to be a great actress. Why don't they use me for the qualities I have? "I have a sense of humor and that's hard to come by these days—particularly at 20th Century-Fox. I'm always getting left. That's what happens to dramatic actresses. They're always getting left. Katherine Hepburn practically made a career out of getting left. This is the sort of part dramatic actresses dream about—the sort of part they win Academy Awards for."

"But I don't want to be a great dramatic actress. I want to be a girl scout. I'd like to play cowboy pictures—or science fiction. All I ask is that the audience think: 'She's not taking this any more seriously than we are.' Until they come up with what I really want, which is sophisticated comedy."

In the new picture "A Summer World" "they want me to kill myself again—because this guy leaves me. Fabian! Imagine killing yourself over Fabian!"

"Think of all the things that could happen to a heroine besides committing suicide."

Suicide, I said, shouldn't come so hard on the screen since she'd tried it for real once. "That didn't count because I was very young," said Miss Parker firmly. "Suicide doesn't count until you're 24 years old."

THE VOICE OF ONE

By REV. DR. FRANK S. MORLEY

This city is filled with anxious people. Some have sinned and they are desperately afraid they'll be found out. Some married women have cheated on their husbands. Some girls have had affairs before marriage and now have troubled consciences. Some boys and girls have unhappy sexual practices. Many people are anxious about money.

An amazing number of families live close to a financial precipice with an elastic of $5 to $10 a month. Often younger people feel they must have every gadget and convenience at once. I often tell young couples that I would sleep on the floor until I got a month's wages ahead. Many are anxious about security in their jobs or frustration and friends, or uncertainty as to moral standards for conduct.

Ideals and Drive

Curiously enough anxiety is a terification of personal life the mark of a high state of development. The lower the scale of work or society, the loss of integrity as persons in the flotsam and jetsam of city traffic, our transient homes and the instability of family life with loss of family controls.

A condition of chronic, self-centred anxiety expresses itself in an attitude of consciousness and constant criticism of others. Another symptom is "going steady," trying to find secure loyalty and affection lacking in home and society. Anxiety always channels itself into hostility and fear, creating intolerance, racial tension, and crime. It also breeds self-distrust, self-hate, alcoholism, and suicide.

Life today is a second matrix for anxiety in the de-

Great Changes For Canada Cited Since '43

Recent years have changed the British Commonwealth from just a member-link with Great Britain to a tremendous potential for world influence.

This view was expressed yesterday here by Sir Saville Garner, United Kingdom High Commissioner in Canada, now on a farewell tour of the country.

His appointment as permanent under-secretary of state for Commonwealth relations was announced in April, and he will take up that post in 1962.

With the needs of that office in mind, he is making a three-phase tour of Commonwealth countries to acquire the latest information on their growth, their problems, their leaders.

Last October he left Ottawa for London and has since visited Australia and New Zealand. He was guest yesterday and today, with Lady Garner, of Lieutenant-Governor George Pearkes and Mrs. Pearkes at Government House. He will visit other Canadian centres on his way east and before taking his new office will visit African and Asian Commonwealth lands.

His work has made him particularly conscious of the change in Canada's place in world affairs, he said.

"There have been great changes in Canada since 1943," he noted. "The first is material—typified by Alberta's growth from a province of cattle and agriculture to a province rich in oil and natural gas, crisscrossed by vital pipelines."

"The second is Canada's greatly-increased attitude of looking outward. She is prepared to take her place in the world."

"Contrast former prime minister Mackenzie King's 'No commitment' policy with Canadian activities of recent years—the Colombo plan, for example," he said.

This, the high commissioner said, is typical of what the Commonwealth can do, in addition to maintaining a link with the Old Country.

By working closely together for the peaceful betterment of all he said, Commonwealth countries could provide a practical example for all the rest of the world.

Maritime Museum Fate Decided Within Week?

Lease-Purchase Parking Plan Wins Applause

A handful of Greater Victoria contractors yesterday sounded cautiously enthusiastic over a $1,000,000 lease-purchase proposal for constructing two civic parking garages.

The plan was unveiled to city council by Mayor Percy Scurrah on Thursday and is designed to put local contractors on a competitive footing with the Vancouver construction firm which originally proposed it.

Dominion Construction Ltd. of Vancouver has offered to erect the two garages in the downtown area and lease them to the city for 20 years. At the end of the lease period they would become city property.

RIGHT STEP

On the mayor's recommendation on Thursday council agreed to call for similar competitive proposals from local contractors.

William Hamilton, of Luny Bros. & Hamilton Ltd., said the plan was "a step in the right direction."

"I think it's only fair that local men get a chance at it—we don't like to see these outside contractors come in and take the city over," he said.

CRITICAL OF CITY

George Farmer, Farmer Construction Ltd. president of the Victoria Building Industries Exchange, said his company will be interested in making a submission but was critical of the city for not having secured the sites for the buildings.

Dominion Construction owns one site which has been deemed suitable for a 400-car garage on View Street east of Douglas, and holds options on a second site for a 200-car garage west of Douglas.

The company has agreed to relinquish its options at cost to any successful bidder for the 200-car unit, and the city has said any contractor interested in the larger building can purchase an alternate site in the same area.

Mr. Farmer said that if the city had secured sites for the buildings the deal would have been made easier for local contractors.

Mayor Scurrah said yesterday the preliminary planning of the lease-purchase parking deal "was done in the only way we could get it off the ground."

GIVEN EVERY CHANCE

City officials said municipal coffers would not stand purchase of the sites in the city's name.

The mayor said local contractors "are to be given every possible chance to erect these buildings—we have no brief for these other people (Dominion)."

Marine Drive Route Wanted

Highways committee of the Capital Region Planning Board has been instructed to recommend a tentative route for the extension of a marine drive along the east coast of the Nanaimo Peninsula.

Voters' Intelligence Underestimated Says Chatterton

"Irresponsible" candidates in Monday's Esquimalt-Saanich by-election are underestimating the intelligence of voters, Reeve George Chatterton said last night.

"I was interested to hear the New Party candidate proclaim a new plan for school financing today," he said. "Glen Hamilton has assumed my proposal for relieving property from school taxes."

HAMPTON HALL

Progressive Conservative candidate in the by-election, Reeve Chatterton addressed a meeting of 15 persons at Hampton Hall.

Mr. Hamilton now proposes this as an idea of his. The only difference is he says it should be taken from federal income tax.

BNA STAND

"What Mr. Hamilton does not realize is that under the British North America Act education is the responsibility of the provinces. And in Quebec, for instance, they will not accept federal aid for schools."

Reeve Chatterton said levy their own income taxes under a new system to begin in April, 1962, will income tax be able to be used for school costs.

GROOS, TOO

He also attacked Mr. Hamilton and Liberal candidate David Groos for "promising voters a national medical insurance plan without telling them how much it would cost them."

"This is another example of the irresponsibility of some of the candidates in this riding," he said.

AN IMPOSITION

"The New Party is an imposition. How can they come before you when they don't even have a leader? How can they ask you to support their program when they don't have one?"

"There is no such thing as a New Party... I think this is an insult to the people of Esquimalt-Saanich. We have had enough of this everybody jumping on the bandwagon and promising everybody everything."

MRS. VICTORIA SCHALKE

Seen in Passing

Scurrah Going To Ottawa

Future home of Victoria's Maritime Museum may be decided next week, Defence Minister Douglas Harkness said yesterday.

"I have an appointment in Ottawa Monday with your Mayor Percy Scurrah," he said in an interview. "By that time I expect to have studied reports on the subject requested from the services concerned—Royal Canadian Navy and Royal Canadian Air Force—and the decision may follow that meeting closely."

BADLY IN NEED

Widespread approval in Victoria has greeted a proposal that the Maritime Museum, badly in need of larger quarters, be moved to the present naval reserve headquarters, HMCS Malahat, on Wharf Street.

The suggestion is that Malahat move to the Begg Building, Yates at Quadra, formerly occupied by the RCAF and now containing only armed service recruiting offices.

OLD BUILDING

These questions, and disposition of the old building on Signal Hill in Esquimalt now occupied by the museum, are the ones it is hoped will be answered next week.

Mr. Harkness had nothing to say about development of Patricia Bay Airport.

FOR TRANSPORT

"That is a matter for the department of transport," the defence minister said.

In the larger field of defence, Mr. Harkness told a press conference there exists "a balance of terror—a 'deplorable situation but there's no point blinking our eyes about it.'"

AN DETERRENT

Canada must maintain strong defences, including potential use of nuclear missiles, purely as a deterrent in the interests of peace.

"No country," said the minister, "is deliberately going to start a war which it knows will destroy itself."

READY TO DUMP

He discounted the theory that Russia has "thousands of intercontinental ballistic missiles ready to dump on this continent."

In the first place, there are not that many ICBMs, he said. Besides, Russia would have to have enough to blanket many other fronts besides North America.

WITHIN YEAR

On the subject of Canada's decision on nuclear weapons, Mr. Harkness said it would likely be made within a year—within the framework of NATO.

Trouble Blooming

Time is nearing when lovely yellow blooms of laburnum trees give way to potential trouble for youngsters. Long green pods develop which look edible to young eyes but are poisonous. Here Mrs. E. E. MacGillivray, 527 Rupert, tells nine-month-old Michele petals are pretty but pods are perilous. —(Colonist photo.)

Wilson's Hope

Build Auditorium Beside Varsity

R. B. Wilson, chairman of the Victoria University development committee, said yesterday it was hoped that eventually the city would build its new auditorium on the fringe of the Gordon Head campus.

He also indicated the sports arena planned for Gordon Head might also become a community undertaking.

"The district has no such outdoor stadium, and it could be a valuable asset," he said. Members of the develop-

New Arena Sets Date

Mrs. Lester Patrick, widow of the famous "Silver Fox" of Canadian hockey, will officially open Esquimalt's new arena at 8 p.m. June 28.

Reeve A. G. Warble said last night an "open house" will be held at the arena July 1 from 10 a.m.

"Everyone is invited to come along and inspect our arena," he said. "Even Victoria, Nanaimo and Oak Bay residents."

A free dance will likely be held during the evening.

Victoria Community Grocers' Co-Operatives Association will open its second annual convention at 8 p.m. today at Holyrood House.

Vote for the Eloquent Indian He's One Person's Choice

Peter Bruton's Capital Notebook

PEOPLE'S CHOICE: At the end of one of the all-candidate meetings not so long ago, Chief Ed Underwood of the Esquimalt-Saanich band eloquently explained some of the problems facing his people.

He was attending his first political meeting, he explained, and he was anxious to know how each of the candidates felt about Indian affairs.

At the conclusion of the meeting someone asked one woman who had attended the function whom she thought was the most impressive candidate.

"That Ed Underwood was great," came the reply. "What party does he represent?"

THE SILLY SEASON: Who says the cost of living never comes? B.C. cabinet yesterday reduced the price of a brand of rum from $4.80 to $4.50. . . . The New Party never says a "victory" dance for Monday evening. . . . Supreme Court judges must retire when they reach the age of 75 but they're all married to your wife's friends.

ently can go on forever. Cabinet yesterday extended the appointment of one magistrate who had reached 75. . . . Ardent fisherman friend of ours always buries the fish heads, tails and other parts in his garden for fertilizer. He claims to grow the only beans with flus on them!

DIM WITTED: If it's not a rude question, I'd like to know how come the street lights in the Fairfield-Ross-Robertson area were burning brightly at 1:30 yesterday afternoon while they were all out when strangers were returning home-wards at midnight half a day earlier.

INSTANT ITEM: There are plenty of perfect husbands. They're all married to your wife's friends.

SNAKES ALIVE: A letter from Frank R. Stevens encloses a clipping from Wednesday morning's paper about Britain's first snakebite death in 20 years.

It states: "The adder, only poisonous snake in Britain, has killed only eight persons in more than 80 years."

Mr. Stevens' comment: "Quite an old snake? How do you suppose they kept such close tabs on Britain's one and only?"

Come to think of it, how did they?

SERVICE REWARDED: A few months ago there was the very dicken to pay after Defence Minister Douglas Harkness urged members of Ottawa's naval reserve division HMCS Carleton to try to love her.

combat talk against nuclear weapons for Canada.

It seems that the division's public relations officer did not realize the speech was confidential and went ahead and released it to the press.

Anyway, HMCS Carleton has just won the award for being the most efficient reserve division in all of Canada!

THE LANT WORD: A list of things "I wish I had never said" is contained in the latest issue of Mountain Echoes—a monthly magazine put out by inmates of the Manitoba penitentiary. They include: "Your honor, I wish to represent myself."

"You can't arrest me. I've got connections."

"Okay, wise guy, sleep outside and we'll see just how tough you are."

"I tell you that guy is okay. I used to go to school with him."

"Joe, when you get out I wish you would go see my girl friend and tell her I still love her."

First Teacher to Hundreds

Across this desk through the years have come priceless comments and gifts beyond value from Grade 1 pupils at Willows School to their teacher, Mrs. Winnifred Pattison. End of school term next month will see her retirement after 39 years in same school.—(Colonist photo.)

Teacher Stays Young at Heart In Grade One

By ERITH M. SMITH

"You never grow old when you teach Grade 1." Five minutes' conversation with Mrs. Winnifred Pattison would convince anyone of the truth of her own statement.

At the end of this term, next month, Mrs. Pattison will retire after teaching Grade 1 at the same school, Willows, since September, 1922.

A long, dull life? Don't you believe it.

PRICELESS COMMENTS

"I have a memory packed with priceless comments made by bright-eyed children, and a home full of treasured gifts, mostly home-made by those same children."

"Probably no one reads the Colonist with more enjoyment than I do," Mrs. Pattison went on. "Every day I see the name of at least one former pupil, making another step ahead in life."

ONE OF MINE

"From this I derive tremendous pleasure. Just the other day I read that Robert Stewart, one of 'mine,' had won a $2,000 scholarship. Then there are those going ahead in business, in the professions, in the sciences."

Most of these former pupils remember their old teacher as Miss Cruikshank. She was married in 1933.

Nowadays she finds herself teaching many of their children—and even some of the third generation.

Mrs. Pattison agrees that teaching Grade 1 is a key post in the field of education.

ENJOYED EVERY MINUTE

"Here we help them take that first big, necessary step away from the familiar shelter of home into the outside world. The training we give them here will stay with them all their lives. I've enjoyed every minute of it."

"This is an ideal way to stay mentally young. To be successful, you must be able to see the world through a child's eyes."

There's a new class every year, and a changing pattern

in that class almost every day. How can the work be dull?"

The tiny teacher, who was born in Ontario, has travelled a great deal and hopes to do more. Educated in England, she was almost interned in Europe during the First World War. However, she got away, and came out to Calgary to join her parents in 1918.

FIRST JOB

A year later they came to B.C. where she, having always intended to teach, enrolled in B.C. Normal School. Her first job was at Agassiz in September, 1918, and four years later she came to Victoria and, on the advice of the late S. J. Willis, to Willows.

Her husband, W. G. Pattison, is already retired and has also travelled extensively. They have their eye on a world trip together, possibly next fall.

WONDERFUL STAFF

Glancing around her classroom, and at the homeward-bound children walking by outside her window, Mrs. Pattison added:

"There's one thing I'd really like you to say. If you say anything about me."

"None of this—my enjoyment of my work, the years I've stayed here—would have been possible without the wonderful principals and staff of this school."

"The co-operation within the staff is one of the finest examples I have ever seen anywhere. No matter what changes in personnel there may have been through the years."

"There you have the secret of the time I've spent here—and any success I may have had is due entirely to them."

Irish Sweep

Four in Running for Fortune

A Victoria resident has drawn an Irish sweepstakes ticket and a chance at $140,000 on one of the favorites in the English Derby Wednesday. Three other Islanders, two of them from this area, also have chances at big money.

None of the 27 ticket holders in B.C. was identified last night as the Irish Hospital Trust continued the secrecy policy initiated for the Grand National in March.

So mysterious was the draw that six of the 27 were identified simply as from B.C. and they, too, may be Islanders.

Best chance is held by L.E. of Victoria with ticket SLH 05689.

Granny Smith's Birthday Party Was a Huge Success

Five guests with birthdays electric organ, which was brought out to the verandah for the occasion. Friends and relatives of the five guests of honor attended the party. Celebrating birthdays were Miss F. Bingham, 70; Mrs. E. Allison, 79; Mrs. Rose Nobb, 82; Mrs. J. Tudor,

Five months of travel are in store for Mrs. William Hogan, left, and Mrs. J. W. Morrison of Nanaimo, who recently crossed the Pacific to Japan and Hong Kong in the P & O Liner, Orca. They are continuing in Orca to Ceylon, India, the Suez Canal and the Mediterranean, en route to London. They will spend the summer in Europe and sail home, via Australia and New Zealand, in the P & O Liner, Canberra, arriving in Vancouver in October.

and a special guest, Mrs. Clementina Nairn Smith, who on Wednesday, May 31, will mark her 100th birthday. Rev. O. Foster conveyed greetings, on behalf of the 100 guests present, following which "Granny" Smith cut the large decorated birthday cake with candles representing 418 years. "Granny" Smith was born Clementina Nairn, on May 31, 1861, at Laurencekirk, County Kincardine, Scotland. She was the youngest in a family of nine children. When she was nine, both parents having died, she came with her sister, aged 11, to live with an uncle at Grand Valley, Ont. There she received her education, which she thinks was quite different from that received by young girls of today. Emphasis then was on the practical side of the skills necessary to run a home and raise children.

"Granny" married James T. Smith at Guelph, Ont., where they lived for a number of years. In 1904 the family moved to Pense, Sask., later going to Gull Lake. At both places they farmed. In 1936 they retired and came to Ladysmith, B.C., to make their home and where Mr. Smith died.

Immediate members of her family present for the celebration were a daughter, Mrs. Nellie M. Murdoch, Lady Smith; son Walter J. Smith, Gull Lake, Sask., and granddaughter, Mrs. William (Iris) Morris, Victoria.

There is to be a family gathering at the home of Mrs. Morris next Wednesday.

Relatives of other principals at the party were: Mr. and Mrs. F. Reid, Mr. and Mrs. W. Devlin and son Michael, Mrs. M. Haggerty and son Daniel, and Mr. and Mrs. T. Feka, all of Victoria; Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Gear, Ganges; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Morris and Mr. and Mrs. W. Kynaston, of Deep Cove, B.C.

Assisting Mrs. Rugg as servers were: Mr. and Mrs. J. Valcourt, Mrs. Flora Gort, Mrs. P. Naysmith, Mrs. E. Schulz and Miss Joy Ann Schulz.

Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Temblett, 1883 Feltham Road, announce the engagement of their only daughter, Sharon Mavis to Mr. Thomas Edward Drysdale, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Drysdale, 2645 Millstream Road. The wedding will take place on Saturday, June 24 at 8 p.m. in St. Aldan's Church. Bridal attendants will be Mrs. T. Leslie, matron of honor, Miss Gail Drysdale, bridesmaid, Mrs. B. Youell, bridesmatron and Jeannine Campbell, flower girl. (Harry Filion photo.)

Your Problems

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: I've been married 16 years to a man who won't stay in one place long enough for me to enjoy the flowers and little shrubs that I plant. We have moved 14 times in 16 years. He has a very good trade which makes it possible for him to get work wherever he goes. The kids are having trouble in school because of all the moving and I'm just about worn out.

We were married in Arizona but he said it was too dry, so we moved to Northern California. That was too wet. Then we moved to Nevada but he "missed people" so we moved to Chicago. That was "too much people" so we moved to Nebraska. Nebraska was too flat so we tried South Dakota. He said South Dakota was flatter than Nebraska so here we are in West Virginia, where he is complaining about the mountains. He says he is unhappier here than all the other places put together. Please tell me what to do about a man who has sand in his shoes. —Daisy.

Dear Daisy: This man has more than sand in his shoes. He's got rocks in his head. Tell him to examine the map and make a study of the climatic conditions of all sections of the United States—because your next move is going to be your last one. And keep your word. You've done more than your share.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I are 50 years old, so please don't think this letter is from a teen-age couple. He goes to see his parents at least three times a week. They live 20 minutes from here. When he comes home he has to call his mother on the phone so she'll know he made it. If it takes longer than his mother thinks it should, she calls and asks, "Is Bennie home yet?" Then I worry. My husband has to talk to his folks every night and tell them what we are doing. If something comes up unexpectedly and we go out for the evening without telling them, they worry because nobody answers the phone. I've been telling Bennie for years that he is too attached to his folks. He says he's just "respectful." What do you think? —RESENTFUL

Dear Resentful: He is both respectful and too attached, but what are you going to do about it after all these years? If you're 50, your in-laws must be in their 70s. Are you going to change them—or Bennie?

Resentment takes energy. Why waste one of your most precious gifts? You should have long since accepted this situation.

Handicaps Overcome by Guides

The story of how many handicapped children are included in Guiding activities in England was told by Mrs. T. W. Hitchman, Local Association Delegate, at a recent meeting of the Pemberton District Local Association.

She told of a film which was shown at the annual meeting by Mrs. N. G. Ashworth, B.C. extension adviser and trainer, depicting how these girls enter into activities during camping. Many jobs thought to be beyond them can be performed.

This experience gives the handicapped guide a sense of achievement otherwise not known to them. Under patient supervision, the girls many of whom are in wheelchairs, can help to draw water, prepare meals, cook on elevated campfires, strike tents, and enjoy camp life which provides them with happy memories for many days to come.

The handicapped girl does not go to the weekly meetings of the Company but attends once a month. She receives information of other guide meetings by mail.

How to Save Money on Rug Cleaning

James Fox, manager of the Victoria Unemployment Insurance Commission office since February, 1957, is leaving today for Winnipeg where he will take over management of the fourth largest of the commission's 200 offices.

Mr. Fox joined the UIC in 1943 and has been manager of offices in Whitehorse, Kelowna, HMCS Carleton, Ottawa, won the naval divisions efficiency trophy. The naval reserve air squadron efficiency trophy, won last year by VC922 of Victoria and presented by Fairley Aviation Co., was won by VC920, Toronto. The University naval training division trophy was won by the Edmonton division.

There are only two hours left in which to buy a TAW button to win a TCA trip for two to any place in Canada. Tourist Appreciation Week buttons will be available from the Chamber of Commerce office, 816 Wharf Street, between 9 a.m. and 11 a.m. Monday. The office is closed today.

Draw to find who has won the top prize—a TCA flight for two persons to any place in Canada—will be held at noon Monday. Six consolation prizes will also be announced.

Minor damage was caused last night to a television set at the home of W. A. Mooney, 1816 Newton, when a transformer caught fire.

The hydrographic survey ship William J. Stewart is expected to remain in drydock here for two weeks while repairs are carried out for damage received when she touched a shoal near Sandspit May 14.

A team of marine surveyors found she had received damage to hull plates near the keel and a bent tip of one propeller blade.

JAMES FOX
... to Winnipeg

and Nanaimo as well as Victoria. He was presented yesterday with a set of travelling bags by employees of the Victoria office.

George Bevis of Ottawa is acting manager of the Victoria office until a successor is named to Mr. Fox.

Beer parlors and licensed premises in the Esquimalt-Saanich federal riding will be closed Monday while polls are open.

Victoria, Oak Bay and Esquimalt will not be affected. Beer parlors, cocktail lounges, licensed premises and liquor stores will be open. Beer parlors at Sidney, Six Mile House and Goldstream and the cocktail lounge and liquor store in Sidney will be closed.

Victoria Police Commission reserved decision yesterday in the case of a traffic constable charged with discrimination. Legal argument was heard from T. P. O'Grady for the commission, Lloyd McKenzie for the officer and police union and John McIntosh for members of the Chinese community who made the complaint against Const. A. V. Harwood.

Capital city branch of the Color Photographic Association of Canada will meet Wednesday at 8 p.m. at 222 Plaskett Place.

HMCS Malahat, Victoria's naval reserve division, has won the Barry German Trophy as the most improved division in the past year. It was won in competition with 21 other divisions across Canada.

Announcement yesterday from Commodore P. D. Taylor, commanding officer naval divisions in Hamilton marks the first time in the 14-year history of the division it has won any trophy.

LONDON — A silver shepherd's staff was presented to Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, Archbishop of Canterbury, as a retirement gift from 33 Anglican bishops and archbishops throughout the world.

East Feasts, West Starves

"Coals to Newcastle" defence contracts and the delayed federal budget came under heavy fire from Social Credit speakers at Cobble Hill last night.

Esquimalt-Saanich-Sorced candidate George Hahn, returning to the attack on failure of the federal government to give B.C. its "fair share" of defence and public works contracts, cited these two cases.

In 1953 the Liberal government placed a $150,000 defence order for fork lift pallets with a Quebec lumber company. The pallets were shipped via the Panama Canal to North Vancouver.

"That's bad enough when you consider the number of carpenters and woodworkers who needed work here in that year, but the Conservative government went one better—they placed the same order with the same firm who shipped the same number of wooden pallets through the Panama Canal to the Esquimalt naval base.

"We have never had more than two per cent of defence and public works contracts except in the war years," Attorney General Robert Bonner said the election of Mr. Hahn would "shake up some dust in places where it needs shaking up."

He said the government candidate's statement that as a member of the government team, he could do more for the constituency was "unrealistic."

"He will be so junior that he won't even be entitled to a key to the washroom," said Mr. Bonner.

Mr. Bonner said he believed the national budget had been delayed until after the election "because of the disastrous effect it would have on this and the three other by-elections if it was made public."

'Most Brilliant Man In Canada Today'

By EDMUND COMROVE

Premier Tommy Douglas was described as "the most brilliant man in Canada" by veteran CCF MP Harold Winch yesterday.

"He's a statesman and an excellent choice for leadership of the party," said Mr. Winch at a press conference.

TWO QUESTIONS

Can a statesman survive the political infighting of party leadership? Can he be a good politician?

"I'm a politician... and I'm not selling politicians short," answered the man who led the opposition for 14 years in the B.C. legislature.

CANT DENY

"Tommy Douglas is not just a politician... and you can't deny he's a good one. But he's a lot more than that, and when a man has got more brains than I have, then I elevate him from the position of politician to that of statesman."

What about the contest shaping up between Mr. Douglas and Hazen Argue?

NO CONTENT

There is no contest, replied Mr. Winch.

"I'm a Douglas man—always have been. I predict Douglas will sweep in with overwhelming support. He will capture the imagination of the Canadian people from coast to coast."

Mr. Winch is looking forward to the August founding convention in Ottawa.

"It's going to be the biggest bang-up convention Ottawa ever saw. We're going to take over the city... as a prelude to taking over in the House."

Mr. Winch was asked about his advocacy of the gas chamber over hanging. Did this mean he had mellowed in his battle against capital punishment?

"Not in the least. I am completely sold on the abolition of capital punishment. So is my party."

He said the new amendments to the Criminal Code were, in effect, a form of abolition.

"But the Conservatives were afraid of public opinion and wouldn't go the distance."

"But if we must have it—let's make capital punishment humane and clean."

"Hanging is neither—nor is the electric chair. Let's stop desecrating the human body."

WEAPON ISSUE

What about nuclear weapons?

"(Defence Minister) Harkness says we are emotional. I feel it is quite right to be emotional in the interests of humanity. I'd rather be emotional than stupid."

New Slate Installed For PTA

New officers of the Greater Victoria Parent-Teacher Council installed last night during the group's annual meeting were Ronald Wingfield-Digby, president; Mrs. Ray Eustell, first vice-president; I. G. M. J. Russell, second vice-president; Mrs. C. F. Boushey, recording secretary; Mrs. L. E. Kennedy, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Gladys Whitaker, treasurer.

James Cairns, president of the Greater Victoria Teachers' Association, conducted the installation.

Regina CCF May Free Premier Douglas Today

REGINA (CP)—The 60-member provincial CCF council began a two-day meeting Friday in which a major topic will be whether the CCF should release Premier T. C. Douglas to seek the leadership of the federal New Party.

The subject is expected to reach the conference floor today.

The chief figures in the New Party leadership race, Premier Douglas and National CCF Leader Hazen Argue, both are attending the meeting.

The council may only make a recommendation and leave the final decision to a series of provincial constituency meetings in June.

Premier Douglas, head of the government since the CCF party came to power in 1944, has said he will leave pro-

Little Girls' Bathers

As much fun in the water as out! Cotton, knitted or elasticized swimwear with skirts or with bloomers. Straps stay put, contrasting trims won't fade, neither will the floral, stripe or plaid patterns! Sizes 4 to 6x. 2.98 and 4.98

Girls' Sportswear

The cool, comfy, pretty way to Summer fun—a pair of cotton boxer waist shorts (that keep shirts tucked in), treated to patch pockets and appliqued with a colorful trim that stays that way. Plaids, 1.98 and 2.98; checks, plaids, 4.6x.

Matching tops—Neat fit, plenty of wear and lots of room to grow in! Each 1.98

Boys' and Girls' T-Shirts

Summer standby! Cotton T-shirts that go on in the morning, play all day, are laundered in a wink—and are ready for more in the morning! Get plenty—they're cool, always comfortable, always neat. Plain or collared neckline, short sleeves. Plain or stripe. Sizes 4 to 6x. 1.49 and 1.98

Boys' Shorts

Soldier-smart! Chino cotton twill or cotton sheen boxer style shorts with zipper closing, patch or slash pockets, march about all day with cool neatness that lasts! Launder them? Of course! They're Sanforized; just won't shrink. Navy, beige, brown. 4 to 6x. Pair 1.49

Boys' Swim Trunks

Cotton knit trunks take to the water the way a duck does, always fit comfortably—dry quickly! Just like Dad's, the shorts have a double front, drawstring top for security's sake. Blue, red, green or stripes. Sizes 4 to 6x. Pair 1.98

Saucy Summer Fun 'n Sun Clothes for fashion-conscious Lasses in sizes 8 to 14x

Girls' Playsuits

Sleeveless cotton dresses tempt a tan, feature short, flirty skirts over matching panties, and naturally they launder with ease, never lose their color. Check and plaids. 4.98 to 7 to 14. Each 4.98

Junior Teen Swimsuits

For a budding figure, an elasticized suit that deftly fills in the outline via the gently padded brassiere—fits comfortably and smartly for a look of ease and confidence. Skirted or fitted styles can be worn with or without straps. Florals, plaids, stripes, geometrics. 8 to 14x. 4.98 to 8.98

Sizes 7 to 12, 3.98 to 5.98

Junior Teen Beach Coats

Sunshine white terry cloth beach coats whisk up the water after a swim, keep the wearer warm as well. A bonus of style: short sleeves, Peter Pan collar and patch pockets. 8 to 14. Each 3.98

Beach Hats

Sun too strong? Then stop that squint, and a bad burn, pop a straw beach hat, sailor, coolie or cloche style atop your head. Styles for the tiny tot as well as the teenage miss. Natural or pastel shades. Each 89¢ and 1.98

Kangaroo Coats

Why? Because right at the front of these brushed cotton jackets is a Kangaroo pocket for sunglasses, and sun lotion. Long-sleeve jackets also have a hood, a zipper front. They come in white with red or blue trim; yellow with brown or grey trim. Sizes 8 to 14. Each 4.98

Junior Teen Sportswear

Shorts, Bermudas, Slim Jims, Pedal Pushers and Slacks with all the features a teen particularly likes; tailored waistbands, zipper closings, slash or patch pockets. Wonderful color range that includes terrific white-tan white. Sizes 8 to 14. 3.98 and 4.98. Sizes 7 to 12. 2.98 and 3.98

Power Sale B.C.'s Price To Sign Pact

OTTAWA (CP)—Premier Bennett wants to export all the power received from the United States under the Columbia River Treaty signed with the U.S., he is understood to have told Finance Minister Fleming.

Will Bennett Show Hand Tonight?

Premier Bennett will announce tonight that B.C. has decided to sign the Columbia River agreement, Reeve George Chatterton predicted yesterday.

"This is an educated guess, based on Mr. Bennett's past performance," he said. "He usually saves something like this in an attempt to grab the headlines."

Reeve Chatterton is Conservative candidate in Monday's Esquimalt-Saanich by-election. Mr. Bennett will address a final Social Credit election rally in Mount View High School tonight.

Teachers Lost To 4,200 Pupils?

REGINA (CP)—The resignations of 180 school teachers in three Saskatchewan school units may mean about 4,200 pupils will be without teachers when the fall term starts in September.

The resignations, effective June 30, are in three units declared "in dispute" by the Saskatchewan Teachers' Federation after the teachers rejected conciliation board recommendations of no salary increases.

Tuesday, 43 of 57 teachers in the Gull Lake unit resigned and 49 of 54 teachers in the Shaunavon unit quit. Next day, 78 of 86 teachers in Melville resigned. The Gull Lake unit previously had 10 other teachers resign for various reasons.

Atlas Soars 5,000 Miles

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI)—An advanced model Atlas missile, mightiest U.S. war rocket, hurled a dummy warhead 5,000 miles into a target in the south Atlantic Ocean Friday night.

Toll in Angolan Natives Runs as High as 35,000

LONDON (Reuters)—British political weeklies yesterday estimated the number of Negroes killed in Portuguese operations against rebels in Angola at between 20,000 and 35,000.

The left-wing New Statesman declared that "some 35,000 virtually defenceless Africans have already been butchered by machine-guns and napalm."

A writer in the independent right-wing Spectator quoted the figure of 20,000 as the "most apparently trustworthy and by no means the largest of the figures that have slipped through the terror-struck censorship."

The independent Economist said the killing of Negroes has been "indiscriminate" and put the figure at "thousands or tens of thousands."

All three weekly reviews published editorials or articles strongly critical of Portugal and Premier Antonio Salazar's regime.

Firebrand Winch Lashes Tories

By PETER BRITON

CCF firebrand Harold Winch last night castigated Conservative policies on nuclear weapons as "the utmost, sheerest, most damnable hypocrisy" he had known in his 28-year-old political career.

"They're lying in their teeth," he stormed as more than 300 people crammed the Douglas CCF Hall for the windup meeting of the New Party campaign in the Esquimalt-Saanich by-election.

ACCEPT THEM

Mr. Winch, CCF defence critic in the House of Commons, flailed the federal government for preaching disarmament and urging a ban on nuclear weapons in the UN while preparing to accept them in Canada.

"It's sheer hypocrisy and you're asked to vote for it," he said.

"They're attacking the decent men and women and children who are talking, pleading and praying for a ban of the bomb."

He referred to statements by Conservatives that those who opposed the Canadian armed forces getting nuclear weapons were "emotional."

"You're darn right I'm emotional," he told the cheering audience. "I plead guilty to being emotional on a matter that means life and death to people."

"And I'm going to keep right on going," he said.

TORONTO (CP)—Two men were killed Friday night in a construction cave-in of Toronto's new east-west subway near midtown Bloor Street. Rescue workers found their bodies early today after more than five hours of crawling through tons of rubble.

Three others were injured, of whom two remained in hospital.

Dead are Edgar Ostkamp, 34, an engineer, and John Blaney, 29, a carpentry foreman.

Their bodies were found after dozens of rescue workers were called in with acetylene torches, fire hoses and a heavy duty crane to dig their way through an estimated eight tons of broken and freshly poured concrete, structural steel and timber.

Injured were Ernest Di Pede, 40, John Pede, 36, and Sovio Coella, 27.

Mayor Nathan Phillips said the disaster "comes as a shock to me. There should be an immediate investigation to see where the fault was."

At the time of the cave-in, bystanders said they heard a crash, screams—then silence.

The excavation at the cave-in point is about 60 feet deep. "The floor fell about 10 feet. Then a wall of earth fell on top of us," Di Pede said.

Express Kills Track Men

MERANO, Italy (UPI)—Three workers were killed yesterday when an express train ploughed into them while they were repairing a track in the station here. They failed to notice the train as it pulled in.

Up to Courts to Back Bill of Rights—Fulton

OTTAWA (CP)—Justice Minister Fulton said Friday it is up to the courts to back up the principles set out in Canada's Bill of Rights.

MPs should not feel they have been taken by surprise when they find this is the case, Mr. Fulton said.

FALLING SHORT

He was replying in the Commons to opposition arguments on instances which they claimed illustrated that the bill is falling short of its intended goal.

Mr. Fulton said it was carefully explained when the bill was before the House that "the courts are the integral and essential part of the protection of rights."

He added: "All the legislation can do is define the rights and put them in statute form."

Persons who felt their rights had been violated should seek their restitution from the courts.

TWO CASES

Members complained of discrimination against a young engineer who fell in love with an Eskimo girl and a woman draughtsman allegedly fired from her Calgary job for praising Castro's Cuba.

CCF members brought up the cases of Valerie Smith, 26, and Australian Terry Whitefield.

Both cases, said CCF MPs H. W. Herdridge and Frank Howard of B.C., were infringements of the Bill of Rights.

Dismissal of Miss Smith for speaking a "kind word" for Castro clearly demonstrates ineffectiveness of the bill, said Mr. Herdridge.

With provisions "We have either to incorporate the bill in the constitution or get agreement with the provinces to enact enabling legislation."

The CCF member added: "Good gracious, if we do not allow an individual to express unpopular opinions, democracy cannot survive."

April Deficit $25,500,000

OTTAWA (UPI)—Finance Minister Donald Fleming last night reported a $25,500,000 deficit in the federal government's financial operations during April, the first month of the current fiscal year.

The statement was released even though a final accounting for the fiscal year ended March 31 has not been released as Mr. Fleming has not yet brought down his budget for 1961-62.

Angry Algerian Settler Mob Kidnap Police, Stone Troops

ORAN, Algeria (UPI)—Hundreds of European settlers last night fought police with paving stones and roughed up

Oran police chief Jules Plettner in protest against the Algerian peace talks.

The mob grappled with riot squad members and French army troops on a wide avenue in the European section of the port city.

They grabbed Plettner and two police commissioners when they drove up in a jeep to direct police action. While one group held the officials, another group freed rioters locked up in police vans.

The men held Plettner as a hostage against the police fighting them, but a squad of riot police clubbed their way through the crowd, firing clouds of tear gas ahead of them, and freed him. Several policemen were hurt by flying stones in the rescue.

The riot was the most serious in a series that began Saturday with the start of the Algerian rebel-French peace talks.

Settler extremists oppose the talks because they fear they will result in Moslem domination of Algeria.

Crowds of between 500 and 1,000 settler youths have staged "Algeria is French" demonstrations on Oran streets since the negotiations started.

Poor Man Claims Earl's Billions

LONDON (UPI)—An unemployed father climaxed a seven-year search of historical records yesterday, with a claim to an earldom—along with $7,000,000,000.

Basil East, 40, of Tring, England, said the inheritance was due him as a descendant of the 20th Earl of Oxford, who died 237 years ago.

"I will look after my children all right if I get the money," East said. He has five descendants of his own.

Two legal firms here which inspected East's claim were not very encouraging about his chances to win the title and fortune.

"We are not impressed," they commented.

East said the 20th Earl of Oxford left an $11,200,000 estate in chancery when he died and that the years have spiralled its value to $7,000,000,000. He said he heard about the inheritance from a cousin.

First Teacher to Hundreds

Across this desk through the years have come priceless comments and gifts beyond value from Grade 1 pupils at Willows School to their teacher, Mrs. Winnifred Pattison. End of school term next month will see her retirement after 39 years in same school.—(Colonist photo.)

Teacher Stays Young at Heart In Grade One

By ERITH M. SMITH

"You never grow old when you teach Grade 1." Five minutes' conversation with Mrs. Winnifred Pattison would convince anyone of the truth of her own statement.

At the end of this term, next month, Mrs. Pattison will retire after teaching Grade 1 at the same school, Willows, since September, 1922.

PRICELESS COMMENTS

"I have a memory packed with priceless comments made by bright-eyed children, and a home full of treasured gifts, mostly home made—by those same children."

ONE OF 'MINE'

"From this I derive tremendous pleasure. Just the other day I read that Robert Stewart, one of 'mine', had won a $2,000 scholarship. Then there are those going ahead in business, in the professions, in the services."

Most of these former pupils remember their old teacher as Miss Cruikshank. She was married in 1955.

ENJOYED EVERY MINUTE

"Here we help them take that first big, necessary step away from the familiar shelter of home into the outside world. The training we give them here will stay with them all their lives. I've enjoyed every minute of it."

"This is an ideal way to stay mentally young. To be successful, you must be able to see the world through a child's eyes."

"There's a new class every year, and a changing pattern in Willows School auditorium."

in that class almost every day. How can the work be dull?"

The tiny teacher, who was born in Ontario, has travelled a great deal and hopes to do more. Educated in England, she was almost interned in Europe during the First World War. However, she got away, and came out to Calgary to join her parents in 1916.

FIRST JOB A year later they came to B.C. where she, having always intended to teach, enrolled in B.C. Normal School. Her first job was at Agassiz in September, 1918, and four years later she came to Victoria and, on the advice of the late S. J. Willis, to Willows.

Her husband, W. G. Pattison, is already retired and has also travelled extensively. They have their eye on a world trip together, possibly next fall.

WONDERFUL STAFF Glancing around her classroom, and at the homeward-bound children walking by outside her window, Mrs. Pattison added:

"There's one thing I'd really like you to say. If you say anything about me."

"None of this my enjoyment of my work, the years I've stayed here—would have been possible without the wonderful principals and staff of this school."

"The co-operation within the staff is one of the finest examples I have ever seen anywhere, no matter what changes in personnel there may have been through the years."

"There you have the secret of the time I've spent here—and any success I may have had is due entirely to them."

Willows Parent-Teacher Association is inviting former students of Mrs. Pattison to attend a reception in her honor on Comliken Hill overlooking Cowichan Bay. All that returns will be held at 8 p.m. June 13 year, and a changing pattern in Willows School auditorium.

Alberni Valley Sanitation Situation 'Bad'

NANAIMO—The Central Vancouver Island Health Board has set up a committee to investigate an application to build a slaughterhouse in South Wellington. Inspector Archie Hill told the board meeting that the proposed site is on a 67-acre tract of land.

He also said that the sanitation problem in the Alberni Valley is a matter of concern and described the situation as "bad." However, he said the Nanaimo district will be greatly improved with the completion of the sewerage program.

PORT ALBERNI—Local IWA financial secretary Maurice Corbell reported an incident in which an employee of MacMillan, Bloedel and Powell River Ltd. Somers Division was alleged to have been "pushed around" by a company foreman.

Mr. Corbell complained that company policy would not permit union officials to interview members of the crew on the matter on company premises without surveillance. He said that the whole crew was taken outside of the plant gate for a meeting in the parking lot where the employee's story was backed up by fellow-workers.

Mr. Corbell said that members of the crew "are very upset and unhappy about the new policy of the company in restricting union officials from visiting union members during their lunch period."

QUALICUM BEACH—The 21st annual inspection of Qualicum College Cadet Corps, Canadian Scottish, Princess Mary's was held recently with Major Stuart G. Wright of Nanaimo as inspecting officer.

Inspection and marchpast were held on the grounds of Qualicum Beach High School, and were followed by demonstrations of training activities at the community hall. Great praise was given to the first aid team of Cadet Captain Fisk and Cadet Lieut. Barty for their demonstration of St. John's Ambulance advanced training.

PORT ALBERNI—Port Alberni and District Chamber of Commerce will sponsor the second annual "Misa Port Alberni" contest, with judging to take place at a dance at the "golf and country" club June 28.

The chamber last year secured a franchise for the contest to select the local candidate for the Miss PNE contest.

William Beckingham, chairman of the committee in charge of the contest has issued an invitation for organizations to sponsor candidates with the entries to be in by June 14.

Judging will be on the basis of charm, personality, deportment, 25 per cent; beauty of face and figure, 50 per cent; ability to speak in public and general intelligence, 25 per cent.

DUNCAN—Stained glass windows have been bought to renovate the old stone church on Comliken Hill overlooking Cowichan Bay. All that re-

MRS. VICTORIA SCHALKE

Seen in Passing

Mrs. Victoria Schalkke riding her motor scooter. (She used a motorcycle to get around in Germany before coming to Victoria about 18 months ago. She lives at 1934 Crescent Road with her son, Bernd, a student at Oak Bay High School. Her hobbies are swimming and horseback riding.)

ALBUQUERQUE—A letter from Conservation Minister Earle Westwood was read in regard to the fishing closure proposal and he advised the chamber to drop the issue.

S. S. Riddell reported that the small boat landing at Montague was now completed and the summer schedules of the ferries are now in operation.

F. E. Robson reported that the new folders were ready for distribution. Mr. Westwood is due to come to Galiano Tuesday.

HAUGHTON HALL Progressive Conservative candidate in the by-election, Reeve George Chatterton addressed a meeting of 15 persons at Haughton Hall.

"Mr. Hamilton now proposes this as an idea of his. The only difference is he says it should be taken from federal income tax."

BNA STAND "What Mr. Hamilton does not realize is that under the British North America Act education is the responsibility of the provinces. And in Quebec, for instance, they will not accept federal aid for schools."

Reeve Chatterton said that only when the provinces levy their own income taxes under a new system to begin in April, 1962, will income tax be able to be used for school costs.

GROOS, TOO He also attacked Mr. Hamilton and Liberal candidate David Groos for "promising voters a national medical inurance plan without telling them how much it would cost them."

"This is another example of the irresponsibility of some of the candidates in this riding," he said.

AN IMPOSITION "The New Party is an imposition. How can they come before you when they don't even have a leader? How can they ask you to support their program when they don't have one?"

"There is no such thing as a New Party... I think this is an insult to the people of Esquimalt-Saanich. We have had enough of this, everybody jumping on the bandwagon and promising everybody everything."

At the conclusion of the meeting someone asked one woman who had attended the function whom she thought was the most impressive candidate.

"That Ed Underwood was great," came the reply. "What party does he represent?"

THE SILLY SEASON: Who says the cost of living never comes down? B.C. cabinet yesterday reduced the price of a brand of rum from $4.80 to $4.50. The New Party never says die. They have scheduled a "victory" dance for Monday evening. Supreme Court judges must retire when they reach the age of 75 but wife's friends.

Scurrah Going To Ottawa

Future home of Victoria's Maritime Museum may be decided next week, Defence Minister Douglas Harkness said yesterday.

"I have an appointment in Ottawa Monday with your Mayor Percy Scurrah," he said in an interview. "By that time I expect to have studied reports on the subject requested from the services concerned—Royal Canadian Navy and Royal Canadian Air Force—and the decision may follow that meeting closely."

BADLY IN NEED

Widespread approval in Victoria has greeted a proposal that the Maritime Museum, badly in need of larger quarters, be moved to the present naval reserve headquarters, HMCS Malahat, on Wharf Street.

The suggestion is that Malahat move to the Begg Building, Yates at Quadra, formerly occupied by the RCAF and now containing only armed service recruiting offices.

OLD BUILDING

These questions, and disposition of the old building on Signal Hill in Esquimalt now occupied by the museum, are the ones it is hoped will be answered next week.

Mr. Harkness had nothing to say about development of Patricia Bay Airport.

FOR TRANSPORT

"That is a matter for the department of transport," the defence minister said.

In the larger field of defence, Mr. Harkness told a press conference there exists "a balance of terror"—a "deplorable situation but there's no point blinking our eyes about it."

AN DETERRENT

Canada must maintain strong defences, including potential use of nuclear missiles, purely as a deterrent in the interests of peace.

"No country," said the minister, "is deliberately going to start a war which it knows will destroy itself."

READY TO DUMP

He discounted the theory that Russia has "thousands of intercontinental ballistic missiles ready to dump on this continent."

In the first place, there are not that many ICBMs, he said. Besides, Russia would have to have enough to blanket many other fronts besides North America.

WITHIN YEAR

On the subject of Canada's decision on nuclear weapons, Mr. Harkness said it would likely be made within a year—within the framework of NATO.

Trouble Blooming

Time is nearing when lovely yellow blooms of laburnum trees give way to potential trouble for youngsters. Long green pods develop which look edible to young eyes but are poisonous. Here Mrs. E. E. Wilson's Hope

Build Auditorium Beside Varsity

R. B. Wilson, chairman of the Victoria University development committee, said yesterday it was hoped that eventually the city would build its new auditorium on the fringe of the Gordon Head campus.

He also indicated the sports arena planned for Gordon Head might also become a community undertaking.

"The district has no such outdoor stadium, and it could be a valuable asset," he said. Members of the development committee were also informed that the amount of money raised to date for the university fund, including government and other grants, pledges and cash, amounted to $4,300,000, just $300,000 below the sum needed to complete the first stage of the new development plan.

NEW ARENA SETS DATE Mrs. Lester Patrick, widow of the famous "Silver Fox" of Canadian hockey, will officially open Esquimalt's new arena at 8 p.m. June 28.

Ernest A. C. Warrick said last night an "open house" will be held at the arena July 1 from 10 a.m.

"Everyone is invited to come along and inspect our arena," he said. "Even Victoria, Nanaimo and Oak Bay residents."

A free dance will likely be held during the evening.

SERVICES CADETS GRADUATE FRIDAY Graduation services at the Canadian Services College at Royal Roads will be held at the college at 2:30 p.m. Friday.

SNAKES ALIVE: A letter from Frank H. Stevens enclosed a clipping from Wednesday morning's paper about Britain's first snakebite death in 20 years.

It states: "The adder, only poisonous snake in Britain, has killed only eight persons in more than 60 years."

Mr. Stevens' comment: "Quite an old snake? How do you suppose they kept such close tabs on Britain's one and only?"

COME TO THINK OF IT, HOW DID THEY? Come to think of it, how did they?

Irish Sweep

Four in Running for Fortune

A Victoria resident has drawn an Irish sweepstakes ticket and a chance at $140,000 on one of the favorites in the English-Derby Wednesday.

Three other Islanders, two of them from this area, also have chances at big money.

None of the 27 ticket holders in B.C. was identified last night as the Irish Hospital Trust continued the secrecy policy initiated for the Grand National in March.

So mysterious was the draw that six of the 27 were identified simply as from B.C. and they, too, may be Islanders.

Best chance is held by L.E. of Victoria with ticket SLH 05689.

12328 on Sovrango, a 10-1

second choice. Other known ticket is Fairfax who holds ticket SK 13739 on 40-1 Bounteous.

Secrets Kept

Four in Running for Fortune

A Victoria resident has drawn an Irish sweepstakes ticket and a chance at $140,000 on one of the favorites in the English-Derby Wednesday.

Three other Islanders, two of them from this area, also have chances at big money.

None of the 27 ticket holders in B.C. was identified last night as the Irish Hospital Trust continued the secrecy policy initiated for the Grand National in March.

So mysterious was the draw that six of the 27 were identified simply as from B.C. and they, too, may be Islanders.

Best chance is held by L.E. of Victoria with ticket SLH 05689.

Plea Changed To Guilty In Stabbing

PORT ALBERNI — Russell Touchie, charged with causing bodily harm to Henry Zuchrader by stabbing, changed his plea to guilty when he appeared before Magistrate W. E. Macleod for trial Friday.

The victim was in court and according to a member of the RCMP had fully recovered from the superficial chest wound.

The magistrate was told that the stabbing occurred when Touchie intervened in a marital dispute between Zuchrader and his wife. Touchie's cousin PARKVILLE — New post office here will open Monday. Postmaster H. J. Parsley announced this week.

The move from the old building on Reynolds Street will be carried out during the week end.

Built at a cost of approximately $26,000, the new building is fully modern with excellent lighting facilities and a day and night lobby for the convenience of box holders. As far as possible original box numbers will be retained by customers.

Modern counters replace the old type wickets and ash panel ling has been used on the interior of the building. Of red brick construction, the post office is located at the corner of Craig and Middleton Streets and has a blacktop paved area around it with ample parking space. Members of the staff with Mr. Parsley will be Mrs. Lillian Spooner, Mrs. Ernest Johnston and Frank Walton. Mrs. G. Bennett-Clark is rural mail courier and Charles Summer is in charge of conveying Laqueti Island mail to and from French Creek. The Parkville post office now provides Laqueti Island residents with a bi-weekly mail service via water taxi.

Gulf Council Presses For Ferry Takeover

GALIANO ISLAND — Methods of publicizing the Gulf Islands and educating tourists and travellers generally on location, transportation, and scenic attractions of the islands were discussed at the regular quarterly meeting of the Gulf Islands Joint Council, held on Galiano Island this week.

Delegates from Salt Spring, Pender, and Galiano Islands Chambers of Commerce, and the Mayne Farmers' Institute, dealt with matters of interest to the whole area. Chester Williams, president of the Galiano chamber, chaired the meeting.

It was resolved to continue pressing for government ownership of the Gulf Islands Ferry Co. operations; daily mail service for Galiano, Pender, Mayne, and Saturna Islands; and a method of transport for baggage between the ferry terminals at Swartz Bay.

Lane markers for ferry traffic at Swartz Bay, and methods of restricting parking in the approach area to the Gulf Islands slip there, were matters resolved.

CONCERTED EFFORT

A concerted effort to have Gulf Islands literature, ferry schedules, and advertising material placed more effectively in information centres, will be made.

Duncan Disputes Crofton Claims

DUNCAN — While Chemainus General Hospital maintains that Crofton and Westholme comes under its district, King's Daughters' Hospital here has issued figures showing a different picture.

Administrator K. F. Noton, of the Duncan hospital, pointed out yesterday that between May, 1960, and May, 1961, his hospital admitted 21 persons from Crofton and 26 from Westholme. Total number of patient days for both areas came to 361.

Mr. Noton said that between January and May of this year, 13 Crofton and 14 Westholme persons were admitted accounting for a total number of 218 patient days.

The battle over Crofton and Westholme patients exploded this week when Chemainus General Hospital board objected to the two areas being included in the Cowichan District Hospital scheme.

Chemainus feels that Crofton and Westholme should be excluded from the $3,650,596 project because if Chemainus plans to build a new hospital of its own, it would be impossible without the support of the two areas.

However, North Cowichan council, one of the four partners in the hospital project, has committed Westholme and Crofton in its $312,650 contribution.

But one critical hurdle has yet to be jumped. On June 10, residents in North Cowichan (within the area of School District 65: Duncan, Koksalah and Lake Cowichan vote on separate money bylaws.

Should one of the four districts fail to obtain a majority vote—66 per cent in the case of North Cowichan—the entire project goes down the drain.

A public meeting will be held Monday at the Chemainus Community Centre. Reeve Don Morton and North Cowichan council have been invited plus Robert Strachan, M.L.A.

SUBWAY CAVE-IN BURIES WORKERS

Toll in Angolan Natives Runs as High as 35,000

LONDON (Reuters)—British political weeklies yesterday estimated the number of Negroes killed in Portuguese operations against rebels in Angola at between 20,000 and 35,000.

The left-wing New Statesman declared that "some 35,000 virtually defenceless Africans have already been butchered by machine-guns and napalm."

A writer in the independent right-wing Spectator quoted the figure of 20,000 as the "most apparently trustworthy and by no means the largest of the figures that have slipped through the terror-struck censorship."

The independent Economist said the killing of Negroes has been "indiscriminate" and put the figure at "thousands or tens of thousands."

All three weekly reviews published editorials or articles strongly critical of Portugal and Premier Antonio Salazar's regime.

TORONTO (CP)—Two men were killed Friday night in a construction cave-in of Toronto's new east-west subway near midtown Bloor Street. Rescue workers found their bodies early today after more than five hours of crawling through tons of rubble.

Three others were injured, of whom two remained in hospital.

Dead are Edgar Ostkamp, 34, an engineer, and John Blaney, 29, a carpentry foreman.

Their bodies were found after dozens of rescue workers were called in with acetylene torches, fire hoses and a heavy duty crane to dig their way through an estimated eight tons of broken and freshly-poured cement, structural steel and timber.

Injured were Ernest Di Pede, 40, John Pede, 36, and Sovie Colella, 27.

Mayor Nathan Phillips said the disaster "comes as a shock to me. . . . There should be an immediate investigation to see where the fault was."

At the time of the cave-in, bystanders said they heard a crash, screams—then silence. The excavation at the cave-in point is about 60 feet deep.

BULLETIN

Two men were rescued at 2:45 a.m. today after their 20-foot sailboat ran onto a reef in Nanaimo's Cove off Saanich's Tees-Mile Point 2½ hours earlier. Skipper Rudy Kirkham, 3118 Richmond, and passenger Maurice (Cherry) 220 Moss, told rescuers Morris Green the sailboat's engine failed during a trip from Sidney to Esquimalt.

Power Sale B.C.'s Price To Sign Pact

OTTAWA (CP)—Premier Bennett wants to export all the power received from the United States under the Columbia River Treaty signed with the U.S. he is understood to have told Finance Minister Fleming.

Will Bennett Show Hand Tonight?

Premier Bennett will announce tonight that B.C. has decided to sign the Columbia River agreement, Reeve George Chatterton predicted yesterday.

"This is an educated guess, based on Mr. Bennett's past performance," he said. "He usually saves something like this in an attempt to grab the headlines."

Reeve Chatterton is Conservative candidate in Monday's Esquimalt-Saanich by-election. Mr. Bennett will address a final Social Credit election rally in Mount View High School tonight.

This is an apparently new development on the position stated in a March 23 letter in which the British Columbia leader said only surplus amounts of the power should be sold back to the U.S.

The export would be for periods limited by agreement but the proposal runs counter to the federal government's long-standing view that hydro power, once exported, becomes a captive that defies recall.

ECONOMICAL BAN

Export is the only basis on which the Columbia River project would be economical for Canada, Mr. Bennett is understood to have told Mr. Fleming Thursday when the two were guest speakers at an insurance convention at Montebello, Que.

Mr. Bennett made a strong pitch for a breaking of the ban on hydro exports. He called it outdated and discriminatory.

STORAGE RENT

Under the Columbia treaty, after 10 years Canada would be getting about 1,675,000 horsepower returned by the U.S. as rent on a Canadian water storage program taming the Columbia.

There is provision in the treaty for selling power to the U.S. if B.C. can't use it.

OTTAWA INVITED

On March 23, Mr. Bennett invited the federal government to build the whole thing itself. It has offered a $172,000,000 loan covering half the storage construction.

The alternative was to let B.C. proceed with the program on two main conditions: Export of surplus power from U.S. generators and a guarantee that the U.S. power would be laid down in Vancouver at a maximum 4.25 mills per kilowatt hour.

NEED TO U.S.

B.C.'s new stand, apparently, is that all the downstream benefits (power from the U.S.) be sold to the U.S. on grounds that B.C. can't use it immediately or that it will be a more economic proposition. Power from the proposed Peace River project, the Wenner-Gren development which Mr. Bennett has staunchly championed, also would be exported.

April Deficit
$25,500,000

OTTAWA (UPI)—Finance Minister Donald Fleming last night reported a $25,500,000 deficit in the federal government's financial operations during April, the first month of the current fiscal year. The statement was released even though a final accounting for the fiscal year ended March 31 has not been revealed as Mr. Fleming has not yet brought down his budget for 1961-62.

Teachers Lost To 4,200 Pupils?

REGINA (CP)—The resignations of 180 school teachers in three Saskatchewan schools pupils may mean about 4,200

The resignations, effective June 30, are in three units declared "in dispute" by the Saskatchewan Teachers' Federation after the teachers rejected conciliation board recommendations of no salary increases.

Tuesday, 43 of 57 teachers in the Gull Lake unit resigned and 49 of 54 teachers in the Shaunavon unit quit. Next day, 78 of 86 teachers in Melfort resigned. The Gull Lake unit previously had 10 other teachers resign for various reasons.

TAIPEI (UPI)—Typhoon Betty hit southeastern Formosa with 129-mile-an-hour winds and churned a path of destruction across the island today, putting all of Nationalist China on a full-scale alert.

Poor Man Claims Earl's Billions

LONDON (UPI)—An unemployed father claimed a seven-year search of historical records yesterday with a claim to an earldom—along with $7,000,000,000.

Basil East, 40, of Tring, England, said the inheritance was due him as a descendant of the 20th Earl of Oxford, who died 237 years ago.

"I will look after my children all right if I get the money," East said. He has five descendants of his own.

Two legal firms here which inspected East's claim were not very encouraging about his chances to win the title and fortune.

"We are not impressed," they commented.

East said the 20th Earl of Oxford left an $11,200,000 estate in chancery when he died and that the years have spiralled its value to $7,000,000,000. He said he heard about the inheritance from a cousin.

Firebrand Winch Lashes Tories

By PETER BRUTON

CCF firebrand Harold Winch last night castigated Conservative policies on nuclear weapons as "the utmost, sheerest, most damnable hypocrisy" he had known in his 28-year-old political career.

"They're lying in their teeth," he stormed as more than 300 people crammed the Douglas CCF Hall for the windup meeting of the New Party campaign in the Esquimalt-Saanich by-election.

ACCEPT THEM

Mr. Winch, CCF defence critic in the House of Commons, flailed the federal government for preaching disarmament and urging a ban on nuclear weapons in the UN while preparing to accept them in Canada.

"It's sheer hypocrisy and you're asked to vote for it," he said.

"They're attacking the decent men and women and children who are talking, pleading and praying for a ban of the bomb."

He referred to statements by Conservatives that those who opposed the Canadian armed forces getting nuclear weapons were "emotional."

"You're darn right I'm emotional," he told the cheering audience. "I plead guilty to being emotional on a matter that means life and death to people."

"And I'm going to keep right on."

Up to Courts to Back Bill of Rights—Fulton

DAVIE FULTON
... seek restitution

OTTAWA (CP)—Justice Minister Fulton said Friday it is up to the courts to back up the principles set out in Canada's Bill of Rights.

MPs should not feel they have been taken by surprise when they find this is the case, Mr. Fulton said.

FALLING SHORT

He was replying in the Commons to opposition arguments on instances which they claimed illustrated that the bill is falling short of its intended goal.

Mr. Fulton said it was carefully explained when the bill was before the House that "the courts are the integral and essential part of the protection of rights."

He added: "All the legislature can do is define the rights and put them in statute form."

Persons who felt their rights had been violated should seek their restitution from the courts.

TWO CASES

Members complained of discrimination against a young engineer who fell in love with an Eskimo girl and a woman draughtsman allegedly fired from her Calgary job for praising Castro's Cuba.

CCF members brought up the cases of Valerie Smith, 26, and Australian Terry Whitefield.

INFINGEMENTS

Both cases, said CCF MPs H. W. Herridge and Frank Howard of B.C., were infringements of the Bill of Rights.

Dismissal of Miss Smith for speaking a "kind word" for Castro clearly demonstrates ineffectiveness of the bill, said Mr. Herridge.

WITH PROVINCES

"We have either to incorporate the bill in the constitution or get agreement with the provinces to enact enabling legislation."

The CCF member added: "Good gracious, if we do not allow an individual to express unpopular opinions, democracy cannot survive."

Drop A-Arms Says Church

VANCOUVER (CP)—The B.C. conference of the United Church of Canada decided Friday to urge all its congregations to support a petition for nuclear disarmament.

The conference urged that nuclear arms be kept out of Canada and that Canada try to limit the number of nuclear power.

TAIPEI (UPI) — Typhoon Betty hit southeastern Formosa with 120 mile-an-hour winds and churned a path of destruction across the island today putting all of Nationalist China on a full-scale alert.

Formosa Hit By Typhoon

LONDON (UPI) — An unemployed father climaxed a seven-year search of historical records yesterday with a claim to a carload — along with $7,000,000,000.

Basil East, 40, of Tring, England, said the inheritance was due him as a descendant of the 20th Earl of Oxford, who died 257 years ago.

"I will look after my children all right if I get the money," East said. He has five descendants of his own.

Two legal firms here which inspected East's claim were not very encouraging about his chances to win the title and fortune.

"We are not impressed," they commented.

East said the 20th Earl of Oxford left an $11,200,000 estate in chancery when he died and that the years have spiraled its value to $7,000,000,000. He said he heard about the inheritance from a cousin.

Firebrand Winch Lashes Tories

By PETER BRUTON

CCF firebrand Harold Winch last night castigated Conservative policies on nuclear weapons as "the utmost, sheerest, most damnable hypocrisy" he had known in his 28-year-old political career.

"They're lying in their teeth," he stormed as more than 300 people crammed the Douglas CCF Hall for the windup meeting of the New Party campaign in the Esquimalt-Saanich by-election.

ACCEPT THEM

Mr. Winch, CCF defence critic in the House of Commons, flailed the federal government for preaching disarmament and urging a ban on nuclear weapons in the UN while preparing to accept them in Canada.

"It's sheer hypocrisy and you're asked to vote for it," he said.

"They're attacking the decent men and women and children who are talking, pleading and praying for a ban of the bomb."

He referred to statements by Conservatives that those who opposed the Canadian armed forces getting nuclear weapons were "emotional."

"You're darn right I'm emotional," he told the cheering audience. "I plead guilty to being emotional on a matter that means life and death to people."

"And I'm going to keep right

Two Saved Off Saanich

Two men were rescued at 2:45 a.m. today after their 26-foot sailboat ran onto a reef in Saanich's Cove off Saanich's Te-Mile Point 2½ hours earlier. Skipper Rudy Kirmser, 2116 Richmond, and passenger Maurice (Bernie) Moss, told rescuers Morris Green the sailboat's engine failed during a trip from Sidney to Esquimalt.

Up to Courts to Back Bill of Rights—Fulton

OTTAWA (CP) — Justice Minister Fulton said Friday it is up to the courts to back up the principles set out in Canada's Bill of Rights.

MPs should not feel they have been taken by surprise when they find this is the case, Mr. Fulton said.

FALLING SHORT

He was replying in the Commons to opposition arguments on instances which they claimed illustrated that the bill is falling short of its intended goal.

Mr. Fulton said it was carefully explained when the bill was before the House that "the courts are the integral and essential part of the protection of rights."

He added: "All the legislature can do is define the rights and put them in statute form."

Persons who felt their rights had been violated should seek their restitution from the courts.

TWO CASES

Members complained of discrimination against a young engineer who fell in love with an Eskimo girl and a woman draughtsman allegedly fired from her Calgary job for praising Castro's Cuba.

CCF members brought up the cases of Valerie Smith, 26, and Australian Terry Whitefield.

INFRINGEMENTS

Both cases, said CCF MPs H. W. Herdridge and Frank Howard of B.C., were infringements of the Bill of Rights.

Dismissal of Miss Smith for speaking a "kind word" for Castro clearly demonstrates ineffectiveness of the bill, said Mr. Herdridge.

WITH PROVINCES

"We have either to incorporate the bill in the constitution or get agreement with the provinces to enact enabling legislation."

The CCF member added: "Good gracious, if we do not allow an individual to express unpopular opinions, democracy cannot survive."

Drop A-Arms Says Church

VANCOUVER (CP) — The B.C. conference of the United Church of Canada decided Friday to urge all its congregations to support a petition for nuclear disarmament.

The conference urged that nuclear arms be kept out of Canada and that Canada try to limit the number of nuclear powers.

Angry Algerian Settler Mobs Kidnap Police, Stone Troops

ORAN, Algeria (UPI) — Hundreds of European settlers last night fought police with paving stones and roughed up Algerian police chief Jules Plattner in protest against the Algerian peace talks.

The mobs grappled with riot squad members and French army troops on a wide avenue in the European section of the port city.

They grabbed Plattner and two police commissioners when they drove up in a jeep to direct police action. While one group held the officials, another group freed rioters locked up in police vans.

The men held Plattner as a hostage against the police fighting them, but a squad of riot police clubbed their way through the crowd, firing clouds of tear gas ahead of them, and freed him. Several policemen were hurt by flying stones in the rescue.

The riot was the most serious in a series that began Saturday with the start of the Algerian rebel-French peace talks.

Settler extremists oppose the talks because they fear they will result in Moslem domination of Algeria.

Crowds of between 500 and 1,000 settler youths have staged "Algeria is French" demonstrations on Oran streets since the negotiations started.

Poor Man Claims Earl's Billions
